7th Fleet 'At The Ready' For Eisenhower's Orders

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, commander of the U. S. 7th Fleet, said today before President Eisenhower asked Congress for approval of evacuation of the Tachen Islands that the fleet is standing "at the ready."

The admiral said the chief executive was taking his course because "it would be a very grave move and a major change in policy." But he said the fleet, if called upon, could cope with any eventuality.

Pride said the fleet, prepared for the evacuation and to protect other offshore islands, if so ordered, includes four large carriers, the Essex, Yorktown, Kearsarge and Wasp.

"I am not free to say what we plan to do," the admiral said aboard his flagship, the cruiser Helena, at Keelung. "Quite naturally, the 7th Fleet deploys in the best way it can to fulfill its mission."

"We must necessarily keep abreast of affairs in this part of the world and the Tachen situation is very much in our mind."

HE SAID THAT, in addition to the carriers, the 7th Fleet "normally includes two to four cruisers." Pride said a fifth carrier, the Princeton, also was assigned to the fleet but "not on this beat."

Reports of unfriendly submarines in this region have been current the last year but were "pretty vague," Pride declared.

He said the Communist air, sea and land attack on Yikiangshan, Nationalist outpost which fell to the Reds Thursday, was well executed but did not represent the

Communists' maximum effort. Asked what he thought about Yikiangshan's fall, Pride said:

Innocent Cases To Be Delayed By City Judge

Anyone who pleads innocent to offenses in Circleville Municipal Court will have the case indefinitely continued—until Circleville decides what to do about the city solicitor problem.

Judge Sterling Lamb said Monday that he had no alternative but to take this drastic action. He said he is disturbed over city council's failure to approve promptly a plan to have Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer help out as assistant city solicitor.

"I certainly cannot act as a prosecutor," the judge declared. "All the other attorneys in town have been donating their time with the idea that George Gerhardt would return to his duties."

Gerhardt, city solicitor, suffered a heart attack last summer. Judge Lamb, at that time, drafted a journal entry in which local attorneys took turns prosecuting city cases.

HOWEVER, the time limit on the temporary setup ends the first week in February. And since Gerhardt had declared that he has no intention of running for office again, other lawyers have become reluctant to serve without pay.

There is an assistant city solicitor, Kenneth Robbins. Robbins must be paid at the rate of $8 per hour and was hired for special work.

"Why, in just three days a week," Judge Lamb pointed out, "he would earn more than the city is already paying Gerhardt."

He pointed to a plan still under study by council. This would call for Ammer to take over criminal prosecutions, with Gerhardt turning over $50 of his monthly pay to Ammer for that portion of the solicitor's job.

"I am not going to schedule any more cases until this mess is cleaned up," the judge asserted. "There is nothing dishonest in the proposal to employ Ammer."

"SOME COUNCILMEN seem to think we are trying to pull a fast one. On the contrary, this plan will be to the advantage of the public."

Ammer said he would turn down the offer if anyone thought there was anything "underhanded" in it. He said that "if this is going to turn into a squabble, then we just might as well forget about it."

Asked what will happen now if anyone pleads innocent, Judge Lamb said, "I don't know. Right now, today, we have no one acting as city attorney here."

In The Herald Columns Today

GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY — Says it was difficult to understand what Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations hoped to accomplish when he went to Peking to see about the captured American fliers. As far as the Chinese people are concerned, Sokolsky claims, the UN official came a-begging. See the editorial page.

RAY TUCKER — Reports that Secretary of State John Dulles indicates no great worry over the recent uprisings in and around Central America. Dulles figures they were touched off by personal political rivalries and not by Communist intrigue. See the editorial page.

JAMES MARLOW — Believes that Chiang Kai-shek—unless the United States gets into an all-out struggle with Red China—will live to "a ripe old age with a paper sword." Marlow reviews the ups and downs of the Chinese Nationalist cause as seen at the Washington end. See page 3.

HAL BOYLE — Tells about the fun he had in making a visit to Jimmy Durante's home in Beverly Hills. Boyle says the terrific jam reminded him of trying to reach the Rose Bowl 10 minutes before the kickoff. See page 3.

Cleveland Badly Burned By Fireball

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Whatever it was, William C. Cunningham, 52, will tell you it was mighty hot. He was standing in his bedroom in suburban Darby Township yesterday when he heard a crash of glass, turned and saw a fireball, about the size of a grapefruit, bounce off an oil heater to the floor. Then it exploded.

His first thought was to throw the object out the window. He said: "It was hot and heavy and as I threw it, it blazed up and seemed to disintegrate. Some of it landed on the bed and exploded again."

Cunningham's right hand was burned almost to the bone.

Fire Marshal Francis X. Joseph of Delaware County said it might have been a meteorite. He tested it with a 1,700-degree flame from a propane torch but the object only glowed. He got no reaction with a magnet.

However, Dr. C. P. Oliver, emeritus professor of astronomy at the University of Pennsylvania, and Dr. I. M. Levitt, director of Fels Planetarium, both expressed doubt that it was a meteorite.

Dr. Oliver said: "From everything that I have been told by the firemen and the fact that the object came through the window at an angle instead of through the roof, I believe it may have been a homemade bomb."

Navy Divers Find Ohio Flier's Body

CHERRY POINT, N. C. (AP) — Navy divers yesterday recovered the body of Lt. Charles Bryan Manning, Marine pilot from Middletown, Ohio. The body was found in Bay River where Manning's AD4 Douglas Skyraider crashed in the river in about 10 feet of water. Manning failed to report from the last of 10 practice bombing runs in a mission last Tuesday.

Congress Asked For Power To Use Military

Defense Of Formosa, Evacuation Of Chiang's Men From Isles Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, a former five-star general and the nation's commander-in-chief, today asked Congress for authority to use "the armed forces of the United States if necessary to assure the security of Formosa and the Pescadores" against Communist attack.

In a special message, the President said that redeployment of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalist forces from other islands "would be impractical without the assistance of the armed forces of the United States because of the air situation."

He said the United States must be ready to help the Chinese Nationalists redeploy their forces.

Eisenhower added: "In the interest of peace, the United States must remove any doubt regarding our readiness to fight, if necessary, to preserve the vital state of the Free World in a free Formosa, and to engage in whatever operations may be required to carry out that purpose."

If Red planes attacked the U.S. forces, that could lead to an immediate clash of arms with the Communists.

Eisenhower said the existing and developing situation around Formosa "poses a serious danger to the security of our country and of the entire Pacific area and indeed to the peace of the world."

THE CHIEF executive then said the situation "is one for appropriate action of the United Nations under its charter, for the purpose of ending present hostilities in that area."

The President said the United States "would welcome assumption of such jurisdiction" by the U. N. in an attempt to arrange a cease fire between the Chinese Nationalists and the attacking forces of Red China.

Declaring the actions the United States must be ready to undertake "are of various kinds," Eisenhower added:

"For example, we must be ready to assist the Republic of China to redeploy and consolidate its forces if it should so desire."

"Some of these forces are scattered throughout the smaller offshore islands as a result of historical rather than military reasons directly related to defending Formosa."

"Because of the air situation in the area, withdrawals for the purpose of redeployment of Chinese Nationalist forces would be impractical without assistance of the armed forces of the United States."

"Moreover, we must be alert to any concentration or employment of Chinese forces obviously undertaken to facilitate attack upon Formosa, and be prepared to take appropriate military action."

Cy Young Helps Own Postoffice

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postoffice Department changed its mind today and decided to keep the Peoli, Ohio, postoffice open as a favor to Denton (Cy) Young, one of baseball's all-time pitching greats.

Originally, the department was going to shut down the tiny postoffice and establish a star route. About 11 families and Young get their mail there.

Young is the 37-year-old former Cleveland, Boston and St. Louis pitcher who recorded 511 major league victories in 23 years.

Parakeets Give Warning Of Gas

CLEVELAND (AP) — R. A. Stevens realized something was wrong yesterday when his two parakeets, Jeffy and Susie, plummeted to the floor of their cage.

Stevens, 38, started to the fire station next door for help but collapsed outside on the sidewalk.

Firemen came to his aid, and entering his house, removed his wife, Mae, 48, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Georgia Stevens, 48, to a hospital where all were released after treatment for gas fumes.

Navajo War Dance Points To Dam Plan

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — Some 2,000 Navajos will dramatize the battle for the upper Colorado River water storage project with sacred war dances last performed 87 years ago when the Indians signed their treaty of peace with the United States.

From the vast stretches of their 15-million-acre reservation, the Navajos came to this tribal seat for the performance, primarily aimed at attracting national attention to the plight of the tribe, largest in America.

The Upper Colorado River commission and the Navajo Tribal Council scheduled a meeting before the dances.

"We are fighting for what is rightfully ours," said Sam Ahkeah, Navajo council chairman. "Some elements are trying to stop the upper Colorado River project. That is not right. They are taking our water, which is our life."

"We are determined that the American people know this. This project will make our land green."

The $1 billion first phase of the project was reintroduced in Congress last week by Sen. Anderson (D-NM) and Rep. Dawson (R-Utah). It failed to get through during the last session.

The project calls for six major dams in the four Upper Basin states — New Mexico, Wyoming, Colorado and Utah — and many smaller projects. Major opposition has come from California. It fears its water allotment guaranteed under the Colorado River Compact of 1922 could be cut.

Yale Divinity Dean To Address Pastors

COLUMBUS (AP) — Dr. Luther A. Weigle, dean emeritus of the Yale Divinity School, is scheduled to address the opening session today of the 36th annual Ohio Pastor's Convention.

More than 2,000 Ohio ministers are expected for the four-day meeting, sponsored by the Ohio Council of Churches.

The convention will include denominational meetings, displays of church goods, addresses by speakers in various fields and concerts of sacred music.

Mishaps Kill 12

COLUMBUS (AP) — Eight persons died in Ohio traffic accidents last weekend as icy roads made driving hazardous in many areas. Other mishaps brought the violent death toll to 12.

Mothers March On Polio Slated For City, Ashville Next Thursday

The 1955 March of Dimes in Pickaway County will move up to its climax next Thursday with the Mothers March on Polio, an organized door-to-door appeal planned that evening for Circleville and Ashville.

Elsewhere in the county the Mothers' March is already under way, and will continue through Thursday. The dramatic effort by the mothers is the traditional highlight of the annual campaign against polio.

The Mothers' March in the townships was arranged over a four-day span because of the extra planning needed to reach the scattered homes.

Next Thursday night, in Circleville and Ashville, a light on the front porch or elsewhere in the front of the building will be a signal to indicate that occupants have contributions to give. All residents have been urged to make a memo for themselves to remember the cause, a nationwide effort which now appears to be on the threshold of tremendous gains against polio.

MRS. JOE BELL is chairman of the Mothers March in Circleville, while Mrs. Harold Adkins holds a similar post for the highly important work in the rural sections. In a joint statement, the two chairmen pointed out:

"Polio patients in record number are receiving aid through the March of Dimes in their struggle to rebuild useful lives for their communities. Meanwhile, at the University of Michigan, Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. and his staff are engaged in the complex evaluation of last Summer's nationwide polio vaccine trials, which involved 1,830,000 children."

"When the results are ready, sometimes this Spring, we shall know if the new vaccine is effective."

"The national foundation is taking a calculated financial risk on the success of the vaccine, and has pledged $9 million in March (Continued on Page Two)

Fatal Coal Mine Accidents Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coal mine accidents caused 395 deaths in 1954, a drop of 65 under the previous record low of 460 in 1953, the Interior Department reported today.

But the rate per million man-hours of work increased to 1.01 in 1954 from the record low of 0.84 in 1953. Secretary McKay said the higher rate "is attributed largely to decreased activity."

Director J. J. Forbes of the Bureau of Mines said falls of roofs continued to be the most serious hazard in the industry, accounting for 217 fatalities.

At Least 15 Die In Railroad Crash

COLDFIELD, England (AP) — Rescue workers dug through the twisted wreckage of the York-to-Bristol express today for more possible victims of the 60-mile-an-hour derailment which killed at least 15 persons yesterday.

Police said more bodies, believed to be still in the piled-up debris of the train and the badly damaged Coldfield Sutton station, might raise the death toll to 18. The train hurtled off the track, the engine turned upside down, six coaches telescoped into each other and three of the four remaining cars smashed into a station building.

Examiner Reports $7,307 Shortage

Former Mayor Pays Full Amount; Describes Robbery At City Hall

Shortages totaling $7,307.33 in the accounts of former Mayor Edward M. Amey of Circleville were disclosed in a state examiner's report today. Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer said he will turn details of the audit over to the January term of the Grand jury.

The shortages, for which Amey has made full restitution, were revealed in an examination of city books by the State Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices. The checkup was conducted here for several months last year by examiner R. B. Sullivan, whose report was released Monday by State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

Ammer said he will bring the report to the attention of the Grand Jury when it reconvenes here Feb. 28.

Amey, who served as mayor from Jan. 1, 1952, until Dec. 31, 1953, is now employed by a construction firm in Columbus and continues to reside in Circleville. In the examiner's report, 12 findings were made against the former mayor. In another, he was named jointly with William F. McCrady, former police chief here.

examiner's report painted a bizarre and confused picture, topped by a reported robbery from a safe in city hall and the discovery of $1,025 jammed under a drawer in the desk used by Amey while serving as mayor.

The shortages came to light when an audit of the mayor's court records was started on July 14, 1954. Certain checks which the former official had written for the distribution of his December 1953 collections were still being held by him until sufficient funds could be deposited to cover the checks. On July 20, a deposit of $2,801.07 was made to cover the checks previously issued and withheld.

The examiner's report reads:

"Upon questioning Mr. Amey about this shortage, he stated that on January 4, 1954 (after his term had expired), he discovered that the safe in his office had been opened by some unknown party and that approximately $5,400 in cash had been removed therefrom."

"It was also stated that no evidence was disclosed which would indicate that the safe had been tampered with, it being opened by working the combination and through the use of a key to the inside compartment where the money was kept."

All mention of this incident was withheld from the local public, and (Continued on Page 8)

Amey Now Aware Of 'Shortcomings'

Says He Also Seeks Answers; Offers Apologies For Record

Edward M. Amey, former Circleville mayor, said he does not claim to know the answers to many of the questions arising from a state examiner's study of Amey's official records.

"I'd like to know a lot of the answers myself," he declared, in commenting on a report submitted by examiner R. B. Sullivan. The report, released Monday by State Auditor James A. Rhodes, listed a total of $7,307.33 in findings against the former city official.

Amey, who has made full restitution, said he was glad to know that Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer will turn the examiner's report over to the January term of the Grand Jury. "I'll be glad to have it go to the jury," he said, "because in that way the weight of any decision will be taken off the prosecutor, and it will also help bring out all the facts."

"I've always liked Circleville and hope to continue to hold the real friends I've made in the city. I'm willing to continue to cooperate in any manner officially asked to untangle this matter, and to put it all in a better light."

AMEY SAID he is now fully aware of the "shortcomings" of his two-year administration, which ended Dec. 31, 1953. And he added: "The only thing I can say in general is that I apologize for the inefficient way in which the affairs of my office were handled. Had I been aware of how inefficient they were at the time, I would have taken immediate action to correct the faults shown up in the examiner's audit."

"I know now that I was much too lenient in many ways while I was serving as mayor, but it was a leniency that was well intended."

"Frankly I don't know the answer to that. I don't know the answers to a lot of the questions. I'd like to know them myself. . . ."

"A MISSING receipt book? I just don't know where it went. I know that, now and then, records would disappear—and return. But why (Continued on Page Two)

"Some vaccine can thus be put to use immediately, if Dr. Francis and his staff issue an affirmative report.

"All of these tremendously important efforts make the polio-fighting job a bigger one this year than ever before. We are sure the people of Pickaway County will show they recognize this fact by providing the guiding lights for the Mothers March next Thursday."

Amey Now Sees 'Shortcomings' Of His Regime

this happened, or how, I just don't know.

"I know very definitely that in many cases I placed records where they were supposed to go—and later these records disappeared altogether. I can't explain it."

In this connection, Amey recalled how the location of his office and the police station were exchanged around the middle of his term, having now been returned to the arrangement first used when he took office. He said it was possible that some needed papers were mislaid, lost or unintentionally destroyed at that time.

The former mayor was questioned in particular on details surrounding an incident that occurred shortly after he went out of office.

Amey told the state examiner that, on January 4, 1954, he discovered the large safe used by his office had been opened and that approximately $5,400 in cash was taken.

Amey said there was no evidence that the safe and an inside cash box had been forced open. The money, he added, has yet to be found.

"IT'S TRUE indeed that I asked Elmer (Chief of Police Elmer Merriam) not to investigate the robbery, and the reason I did that was because I felt sure the money would be returned. I was certain that whoever was responsible would bring it back.

"And even today I feel sure that, sooner or later, at least a large part of that fund will be found—but where or how I haven't the least idea.

"I don't want to reflect upon anyone in any way in connection with that matter, but the fact is that—as far as I know—the way to open the safe was known only to members of the police force and my clerk."

Amey stressed that, under the procedure being followed in the handling of cases, and to permit the clerk to perform his duties, this arrangement was necessary.

"But as far as I know, nobody else knew how to open the safe," he added.

In reference to the inside cash box, Amey said he was under the impression that he was the only one who had a key to it. And he added he had that key in his possession when both the safe and cash box were found open, and the money gone.

THE FORMER mayor said he does not recall ever leaving the cash box unlocked while the safe itself was locked.

Amey, 35, is now employed by a Columbus construction firm and resides in Circleville. Asked about the restitution he has made in full, he said:

"This has cost me a considerable amount of money, and I have already been asked where I got the money to make good the missing funds. The answer is that I have borrowed it from individuals, to whom I am making monthly payments to reimburse them."

The former official recalled that he made approximately $18,000 from his two years as mayor, adding:

"And that amount, as I have said publicly several times, is more money than I ever made on a job before."

He went on, however, to cite one instance to be considered "if I wanted to take money that didn't belong to me."

THE CASE he described was one in which two elderly and ill

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Snyder Funeral Home of Mt. Sterling. Burial will be in the Mt. Sterling Cemetery.

Friends may call in the funeral home at any time.

Congress Asked For Power To Use Military

to act quickly on the President's request. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee called a meeting for mid-afternoon today to hear Secretary of State Dulles and consider a resolution in line with the President's proposal.

The most immediate threat by the Chinese Reds is to the Tachen Islands, about 200 miles north of Formosa, which are reported to be held by 20,000 Chinese Nationalist regulars.

Eisenhower's request would open the way for use of U. S. sea and air power to remove these troops from the islands.

A Taipei dispatch reported some civilians are already being moved from the Tachens to Formosa. It said about 315 children were in the first movement and were due to arrive at Formosa tomorrow. There was no word whether the U. S. Navy assisted.

Eisenhower noted that the 7th Fleet was directed in 1950, when the Korean fighting broke out, to defend Formosa against any Communist attack.

He said the reasons for that move are still valid, and told the Congress:

"What we are now seeking is primarily to clarify present policy and to unite in its application. We women had to be removed by city officials from their Southern home to the Pickaway County infirmary. Amey said he was the one who found about $2,000 while he and C. O. Leist, at that time city health and safety director, were checking over the premises to protect any valuables owned by the two women.

"I could have easily kept that money for myself if I wanted to take money that didn't belong to me," he said.

When building your new home, you don't have to sacrifice beauty for quality nor quality for beauty. Concrete Masonry is the building material that gives you both.

60 Eshelman Employees Honored; Local Plant Marks Anniversary

Sixty employees of John Eshelman and Sons were honored at a company dinner Saturday evening in the Community Center of EUB Church. Service pins for 10, 15, 20 and 25 years service were presented to employees.

Presentation of the pins was made by H. R. Eshelman Jr., assisted by Howard Beidleman, Leslie Rihl and Luther Bower. Brief addresses expressing appreciation were made by Eshelman and D. J. Carpenter.

The tables were decorated with red roses, and rose corsages were presented to the ladies. Entertainment was provided by Earl March, accordionist, and the Harmonaires of Columbus. Two hundred and eighty employees and their wives or husbands attended the dinner, served by the ladies of the church.

The committee in charge of arrangements included: Luther Bower, chairman; Leslie Rihl; Roloff Wolford; D. J. Carpenter; H. R. Eshelman Jr.; Lawrence W. Hoffman, and Roger Lozier.

SERVICE PINS were presented to the following employees:

6 Teenagers Handed Fines In Gas Theft

Six teenagers received fines in Municipal Court as the result of a roundup which may have broken up a widespread county gasoline stealing gang.

Ralph Salyers, 19, of Circleville Route 2, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to six months in jail Monday. The jail term was suspended by city judge Sterling Lamb and Salyers was put on probation for that length of time.

Five others were fined Saturday in court. Also receiving the same punishment as Salyers were: Merda J. Marshall Jr., of Circleville; Walter Davis, of Circleville; and Thurman Murphy, of Ashville Route 1. All are in their late teens.

Willard Salyers, of Stoutsville Route 1, accused by State Patrolman Jim Gates of being the ring leader, and Estill Burchette, of Ashville Route 2, received the same fine as the others but must serve out 10 days of the jail

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek seems headed for a ripe old age with a paper sword unless the United States gets into a fight with Red China.

Chiang, although he had American aid which many Republicans later said wasn't enough, had his ears beaten off by the Chinese Communists in 1949. He fled to Formosa with the Nationalist Chinese who stuck by him.

President Truman took a dim view of him and said the United States would not defend Formosa from Red attack. Truman changed his view later in 1950 when the Red Chinese got into the Korean War.

He ordered the 7th Fleet to protect Formosa from Red attack and to keep Chiang from hitting the mainland. Truman didn't want the war to spread. Subsequently, Formosa was considered essential to American defense.

This country armed the Nationalists with field equipment, ships and planes, some of them jets. As one of his first acts, President Eisenhower said he was ordering the 7th Fleet to let Chiang hit the mainland.

Chiang did very little hitting. He didn't have the strength then, and doesn't now, to invade the mainland without American support, at least in the form of transportation, supplies and air cover.

He has perhaps 550,000 men. The Red Chinese reportedly have more than 2 million. The Communists have equipment they've turned out themselves, plus modern equipment from Russia.

Without the 7th Fleet and the American equipment given him, Chiang would hardly be in a position even to defend Formosa, much less invade the mainland.

Yet the hopes of Chiang, his Nationalists and those mainland Chinese who hate the Reds have been built around the chance that someday he would return to China.

But the United States wants peace in Asia. Right now there is shooting. Chiang is defending his outlying islands from Red attack. If it gets worse, the United States may wind up in war with Red China.

But if the present trouble quiets down, this is the prospect:

The Senate is expected to approve a mutual assistance pact with Chiang. That would put this country into war with the Red Chinese if they attacked Formosa and some other islands.

But Chiang has agreed not to attack the mainland without previous consultation with the United States. If the United States approved, it would be committed to back him up. That could lead to war with China.

Since it wants peace, this country is unlikely in the foreseeable future — unless the Reds attack — to okay an attack by Chiang. That means he'll have to stay bottled up on Formosa, getting older — he is 66 now — as he reviews his troops, who are also getting old.

Since the Reds are pledged to capture Formosa, the treaty means the United States is pledging itself to protect Formosa for as long as anyone can see into the future.

Most persons find that their hearing is less keen immediately after meals.

Hal Boyle Says:

Durante—Lots Of Noise

By JAMES BACON
(For Hal Boyle)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A visit to Jimmy Durante's modest home in Beverly Hills is an experience not unlike trying to drive to the Rose Bowl 10 minutes before game time. The crush is terrific.

I've been to Durante's many times and never have seen less than 10 people at any given time. Take the other day, just as an example.

A couple of NBC executives had called to talk over a business deal. I had dropped in for what might be called an interview. An electrician was working in the front room, oblivious to Eddie Jackson, Jules Buffano and a half dozen other members of the Durante entourage.

The network brass cornered Jimmy but not for long. He was at the piano with an apologetic nod to the executives: "I just tot of somethin'."

He played a few bars and yelled at Jackson: "Try singin' it dis way, Eddie." Jackson went into his famous strut and singing like he was the closing act at the Palace. Durante, cigar in his mouth, sang along without gestures. He stopped the music, said a word or two to me and rejoined the executives. But only for a minute. The doorbell rang and Jimmy answered it in person.

It was a new milkman who didn't know he had Durante for a customer. Durante grabbed him by the arm and took him on a tour of the house. Again he apologized to the executives: "I wanted to show him de jernst so he wouldn't leave no sour milk."

The brass obviously was not used to such informal business conferences. It lasted a few minutes more and Jimmy yelled to the cook: "Hey, where's my breakfast?"

"It's been ready since noon," she yelled back twice as loud. It was now 4 p. m. He sat down and beckoned me and the executives to join him:

"When Durante eats, everybody eats." The executives had coffee and left. Jimmy disclosed they wanted him to stick more

Judge Young Addresses Brotherhood

Pickaway County Probate Judge George D. Young was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood, held in the parish house.

Judge Young, who will soon yield the duties of his office to Guy Cline, spoke on the problems in juvenile delinquency. Judge Young declined to run again for office last year and plans to return to private law practice.

The Brotherhood meeting opened with group singing. President Pete Bowman was in charge of the devotionals with the reading of the 23rd Psalm.

Among guests at the gathering were: Betty Lou and Weta Mae Leist; the Rev. James Recob, pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church; Sammy McCloud and Jerry Easter. The Leist sisters entertained with four musical selections on their accordions.

RUSSELL SKAGGS read the secretary's report. Thirty-one members answered roll call. A rising vote of thanks was given to Lloyd Cox for the construction of a ping pong table. The group voted to purchase new lockers to store ping pong and shuffle board equipment. Refreshments were served by Marion Steinhouser and his committee.

College Professor Is Disc Jockey

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—College students are inclined to think of their professors as strictly long-hair when it comes to music.

But not at Oklahoma A&M.

The Aggies have a professor who is a disc jockey on a local radio station five nights a week. James C. Stratton is the dignified maestro of the turntables and, as the cats might put it, he's no square.

The professor's show is devoted mainly to jazz and he has quite a following among the swing and blues enthusiasts. Stratton can converse about classical orchestration or chamber music as easily as he can about jazz. The professor teaches in the journalism department.

Garbageman Sorry To Quit His Job

DETROIT (AP)—Raymond Middleton, 59, has stepped down from his city garbage truck for the last time. He has retired after 31 years on the job.

There was a tear in his eye. "It's hard to give up something you love," he said. "And this job I really loved. At first I hated it, but the longer I worked the more I grew to love it." "I got to know my customers as well as the milkman," he added. "It's surprising how much you can find out about people by inspecting their garbage cans."

NO CHANGE IN RUSSIA

IN SPITE OF repeated assurances from various official sources that the cause of peace is to be advanced this year, people in the free world would feel more certain of this if it were not for the attitude of Chinese Communists. They continue to aggravate an already ticklish situation through military activity at a time when the world is presumed to be at peace.

One hundred red planes staged a day-long attack on the strategic Tachen islands, 200 miles north of Formosa. This is another incident in what has been termed the civil war with Chinese Nationalists. In these days of complicated world relations a civil war has a way of developing into a contest with more than restricted possibilities.

Sooner or later the situation in the Far East will involve outside interests, with forces of the free world compelled to take up the cause of Nationalist China. It must be taken for granted that Russia is back of these attacks, and the Chinese Communists are getting their orders from Moscow. Russian planes were used in the latest attacks, piloted by Russian-trained men.

There is only one conclusion to be drawn from these developments. Russia wants war in spite of its protests to the contrary. If 1955 is to be a year of peace Russia will have to change its tactics. There is little at this date to indicate any such change of heart in Moscow.

VICIOUS CYCLE

UNDER URGING of those who raise beets and cane the United States government has set up an intricate system of subsidies, tariffs and quotas to limit production and importation of sugar.

The government could let the sugar importation barriers down and give consumers lower prices. But to do so would be political disastrous. By permitting other commodities to revert to supply and demand the nation would have cheap prices. Then the government would be unable to draw off enough money to support its debt—created in part by subsidy payments to hold up prices—and meet rearmament costs.

Business would lack profits to expand and provide employment. Dollars would become scarce in a deflationary cycle which routed the political regime in which it happened. The trend definitely would be in the direction of more state socialism.

One may sigh for the good old days when eras of plenty were identified by low living costs. But the nation is now in a drastically controlled economy and the only way to live with it is to make enough dollars to pay high prices in the midst of plenty. Those who weaken are subsidized from tax funds.

These Days

It was difficult to understand, when he left for his safari to Peking, what Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations hoped to accomplish. So far as the American people are concerned, it was assumed that he went to see Chou En-lai to ask him to free the American prisoners of war who should have been exchanged at Panmunjom but who were detained as spies, which they could not be because they were in identifiable uniforms. It is euphemistic to call these men United Nations military personnel—they are Americans and they are the responsibility of our government.

So far as the Chinese people are concerned, Hammarskjold came a-begging, thus giving face to a government that has no seat in the United Nations. In a word, to use a Chinese expression, he kow-towed to the Communist government of China, strengthening that government's prestige in Asia where such a gesture is understood in Asiatic terms. Hammarskjold may wish for the recognition of Red China by the United Nations, but that, under the Charter, is none of his business.

The fact is that the fliers have not been freed. A large number of Americans are still held in China. No official figure has been disclosed by the American Government which probably can have no exact figure. Some are businessmen and missionaries; some are military personnel who have been reported missing in action or even dead. The Red Chinese have not even shown our government the courtesy of providing accurate data.

In the many years that I lived in China, during which I saw considerable military action, I never encountered what we would call a prison camp. Captives were either killed or incorporated in the capturing army. Many were permitted to escape, to save the cost of feeding and housing them, and they became bandits. The term bandit and soldier were interchangeable during the wars of the Tachuns, the civil wars that lasted from 1912 to about 1932, a period of almost constant internal strife.

The Red Chinese refinement is to call these men spies rather than bandits, to wash their brains rather than to incorporate them into their armies, to hold them as hostages for some advantage in their negotiations for recognition by the United States and the United Nations. The prisoners are hostages.

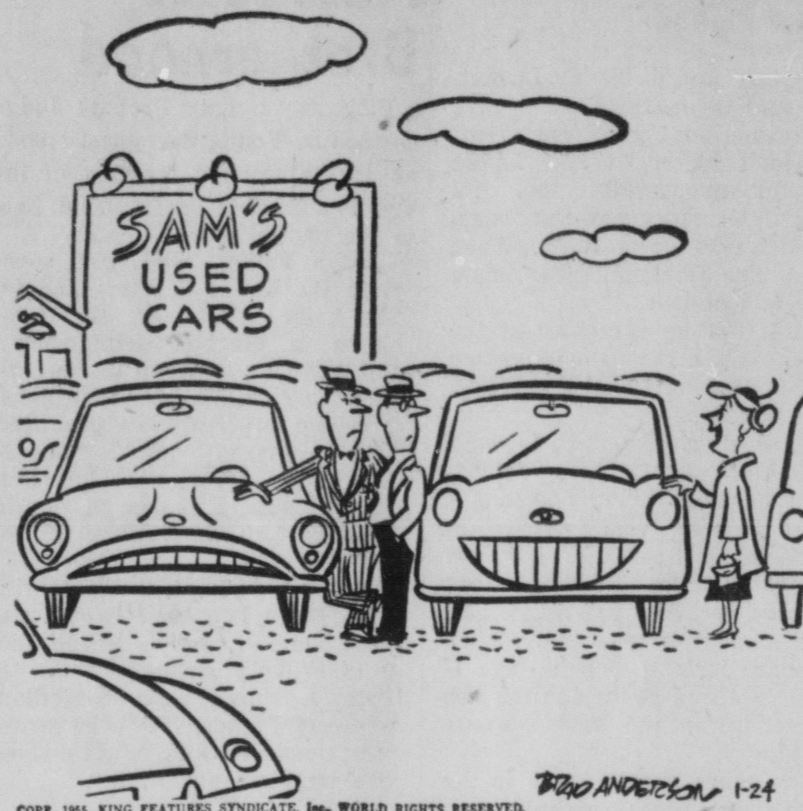

There is no reason to believe that the Red Chinese would change their conception of the entire question of prisoners of war to please Dag Hammarskjold who came to Peking empty-handed. If he could bargain with Chou En-lai, as one used to bargain with a pade dealer, that would have been a different matter, but Hammarskjold had no bargaining power and therefore he could only listen to their complaints and to their offers. But he could not get the fliers freed.

As a matter of fact, the Red Chinese showed their contempt for him and for the United States by starting another bombardment of the Tachen Islands while he was still in Peking and just leaving. Chinese courtesy—ke chi—would have indicated to Chou that the bombardment be held up until after he had arrived in New York, so that he, Hammarskjold, would not lose face, but the present regime in Peking pays no attention to such trivialities.

A Realistic Appraisal Of The Polio Menace

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

PROBABLY no disease holds more dread, or causes more worry for your parents, than poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis.

While polio, of course, is a terrible disease and has caused tragedy in many an American home, it is not the wholesale killer or paralyzing terror that most of you have come to believe.

I know you've probably been reading a lot of newspaper stories about polio and the current March of Dimes campaign. But I think a few more articles are in order to help you better understand just what polio is, what it does and does not do, and what you and science can do about it.

Incidentally, I want to urge you to support the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis' March of Dimes program before it ends next week. Polio is on the increase in the United States, and this organization is spearheading efforts to find an effective preventive.

Statistics Tell Story
Just how great a menace is polio? Well, let's look at some of the statistics.

The number of cases, of course, varies from year to year. In 1938, there were only 1,705 cases in the entire country. In 1952, the total was 57,628. More than 1,000 of these were in Chicago alone, and I had to declare that it had reached epidemic proportion there. There were about 40,000 cases in 1954.

Yet even in the worst years, the proportion of those stricken with diagnosed polio is relatively small. Actually, the chances of your child contracting a diagnosed case of polio during the first 20 years of his life is as low as 156 to one.

Adults Have Good Odds
You adults have even better odds. I'll explain why in another column.

Even if you or your youngster are stricken, you still have the odds in your favor. The National Foundation reports that 50 per cent of the recognized cases of polio recover completely. About 30 per cent show slight after-effects, and about 14 per cent are left crippled. Some six per cent may die. The death rate has been cut in half since the 1938-41 period.

Of the 14 per cent left severely handicapped, many are greatly aided through rehabilitation and special equipment. The 30 per cent suffering only a mild degree of paralysis usually are able to continue living an ordinary life with few, if any, restrictions.

Each year, on the average, the number of cases of measles, scarlet fever and tuberculosis is far greater than the reported cases of polio.

Still, for every recognized case of polio it's estimated there are at least 100 cases of unrecognized polio.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
E. M. J.: Is dilantin helpful? Will it increase the blood pressure?

Answer: Dilantin, properly employed under the physician's direction, is helpful. It is employed to control convulsions.

H. Allen Smith tells about a reporter who heard of an apartment house fire and tried by phone to get somebody nearby to supply the details. By chance he was connected with a gent in the very apartment where the fire had started. Enchanted by finding himself an authority all of a sudden, the gent talked on and on, describing the progress of the flames, and the frantic efforts of the firemen to extinguish them. Finally, however, he said, "I guess I better hang up. I'm on fire myself!"

One customer demanded an imitation panama. The only one the young Young could find was about four sizes too large, but that didn't stop him, so he plunked it onto the customer's head. It dropped down over the latter's ears, forehead and eyes. Young "Lew" enthused, "Looks marvelous on you! If only you could see yourself in this mirror!"

CHAPTER TWENTY

I LAID the brooch back in its glass box without stepping from the end of the dresser. I put the lid in its place but my hand stayed where it was, outstretched above the box. Something to the right of the dresser had moved. It was the other narrow door.

It took longer swinging open than I had any way of knowing. My hand was still extended over the dresser. For a second after the door stopped moving there was only the empty frame. Then Cricket stepped through.

She stood, turning her head from side to side, as if she could get my scent.

"Who in here?"

I didn't stir. Slowly she started coming toward me, her groping hands exploring the space ahead of her like some insect with inquisitive antennae.

I was cornered between the end of the dresser and the window with Cricket moving into the narrow space formed by the dresser and the bed. I thought of the closet beside me but she would hear me open the door. I froze and waited.

She was only a few feet away now, one hand pointing toward me, the other feeling along the top of the dresser—running over each article as though to check its position. When the skinny fingers found the glass box they paused and removed the lid. Having felt the cameo they replaced the lid and continued their course toward my end of the dresser, manipulating slowly like someone playing silent notes on a mute keyboard.

When she reached the end of the dresser—she was so close I could smell her breath, heavy with prune-like aroma of snuff. I was almost certain then that she could see, that her playing blind was a grotesque ruse. I flattened back into the window, making the most of the deep-silenced recess, but there was no place to put my legs. Her hands played across the curtains within inches of my face. I stopped breathing and tried to subdue my heart as I watched the pinkish-tan palms make passes back and forth like the hands of a hypnotist.

I had reached the point where I thought I couldn't stand it any longer. She turned and, opening the closet beside her, explored it carefully. Closing it and nearly stepping on my foot, she went back along the bed and the dresser and began circling the rest of the room.

At the doorway to Anson's room she found the door open and stopped, whispering, "Mistuh Anson?"

Getting no answer, she swung around, pulling the door shut. Then she crossed the room again to the little doorway she had come through.

As she disappeared I heard her footsteps going down some stairs. It must be a service stairway from the rear of the house.

I got across the room as fast as I could, through the door into Anson's room and out to the hall. Once on the front stairs, I knew I could gain ground on Cricket. I got down to the library and was sitting in front of the fire by the time she groped her way to the library door.

She stood a moment, listening. I stirred the fire for her benefit, rattling the poker against the brass andirons.

She waited, giving me that uneasy impression once again that she could see, then, slowly, she moved back along the hall. The creaky board under her foot was the only sound.

When my breathing slowed a bit I walked closer to the portrait in the frame. This Belle, looking unsmilingly at me from the gold frame. What kind of person had she been? This morning Yoke Gairdner had said he wanted to help Harrison Purcell, but there had been a time he hadn't. Had Belle put her spell on everyone who knew her—Harrison Purcell, Anson's colorless father whatever his name had been, on her son? Or was it that Young Anson did something to things he touched that kept them in a state of lifeless suspension, like those dusty hawks up in his bedroom?

I moved over to the shelves of books. Down on the lower shelf beside Robert E. Lee's biography, I found what I was looking for—The Gentleman's Recreation: Being a Treatise of Hawking and Falconry.

news behind

the news

WASHINGTON — Secretary John Foster Dulles professes no great concern over current disturbances in Central America for the simple reason that they result from personal political rivalries rather than from the Communist intrigue that forced emergency American intervention in Guatemala a few months ago.

Dulles, and Under Secretary Herbert Hoover Jr., who has made Central and South America his special province under State's division of diplomatic work, regard the vast area from the Texas border to Antarctica as "fully dependable," provided the United States helps these countries to solve their basic economic problems—inflation, shrinking markets for their goods, falling prices for major commodities, financing of post-war industrial developments.

RELATIONS — Prospective settlement of the Nicaragua-Costa Rica clash reflects the improvement in relations between Washington and our Latin-American neighbors over conditions which prevailed not so many years ago. This uprising and other less publicized difficulties have been handled on a basis of comradeship rather than "Yankee imperialism."

In Calvin Coolidge's day, for instance, United States Marines were landed whenever any local guerrilla outbreak within the vicinity of the Panama Canal seemed to threaten American interests, private or public.

Even the explosion of fire-crackers on a fete day, according to the natives, would provoke our intervention on behalf of U.S. fruit, oil, shipping firms. In the eyes of the victims, it was selfish "dollar diplomacy."

PROGRAM — As a result of Cordell Hull's "good neighbor" policy and President Eisenhower's "partnership" idea, Latin-American countries themselves are policing their problems through the Organization of American States. When Washington sends troops, planes or warships to distressed areas, it is at their request.

At Dallas, Tex., next month, Milton Eisenhower will proclaim formally his brother's program for an expanded and co-operative continental development. Meanwhile, Hoover has outlined the Eisenhower plan in pre-atory conversations with Milton Eisenhower, and he has briefed Latin-American representatives here on its general purposes. He has warned them that they need accept no vast amount of American financial assistance, and he found that they preferred private rather than government investments.

The U. S. Hoover explained, would encourage large loans for factories, refineries, railroads, hydroelectric plants, highways, etc., provided the borrowers created an atmosphere favorable to private enterprise. Drastic restrictions against employment of American executives, withdrawal of profits, export tariffs and other advantages must be softened or repealed.

PROGRESS — In advance of President Eisenhower's message on the subject, Hoover told of the White House proposal to reduce the tax on foreign profits of American firms from 52 to 38 per cent. In his opinion, the industrialization of South America can and will match the progress achieved in this country from 1890 to the present day, although more slowly and gradually.

By Ray Tucker

Hoover virtually talked as an economic and engineering adviser, and without pulling any punches. These countries, he pointed out, enjoyed a boom during World War II because of our purchases of their strategic materials at artificially high prices. The postwar decline in prices has damaged their economies, especially as many are one-crop or one-commodity producers.

SPENDING — Moreover, they spent these wartime profits foolishly and uneconomically, as any get-rich-quick individual might. The American under secretary urged them to plow future earnings back into their productive plant, and to industrialize and diversify. With these improvements, he pointed out, they will create a home market, based on higher wages and living standards, and will not be so dependent upon overseas customers.

As a result of these conferences, and despite recurrent differences in dealing with an emotional populace, Hoover believes that there is solid basis for sound political and economic relations between the United States and the 21 Latin-American republics.

Brownies, Cub Scouts Enjoy Columbus-Xenia Train Ride

Parents, Leaders Also Participate

The members of the Brownie Troops of Circleville and Pickaway County Girl Scouts participated in a train ride from Columbus to Xenia Saturday afternoon, leaving from the Columbus Union Station.

The 20 coaches were filled with more than 1400 Brownies, Cub Scouts and parents. Refreshments were served from a baggage car during a stop at Xenia. ## Italian Star Slated For Ring Debut

NEW YORK (AP)—Most of boxing's new talent is coming from Europe these days. Another newcomer, Italy's Angelo Brisci, makes his U. S. debut tonight against scrappy Pete Adams of Newark, N. J., in the main 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena. DuMont will telecast the bout at 10 p. m.

Paddy Young, a veteran on the comeback trail, and Tony Johnson, a youngster on the rise, collide in an all-New York light heavyweight 10-rounder at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena tonight. It will be telecast by ABC-TV.

Both were unbeaten in 1954. Young in two scraps and Johnson in six.

Lightweight champion Jimmy Carter, who regained his crown from Paddy De Marco Nov. 17, gets back to work Wednesday night in Spokane, Wash., when he faces tough Bobby Woods of Spokane in a non-title, non-TV, 10-rounder.

Joey Giardello, middleweight contender from Philadelphia, meets Al Andrews of Superior, Wis., at Norfolk, Va., Wednesday. The 10-rounder will be telecast by CBS-TV at 10 p. m.

Nino Valdes, the No. 1 heavyweight contender, goes after his 11th straight victory Tuesday night against Jack Flood of Spokane in a 10-rounder at Huntington, W. Va.

Junior High Basketball Tourney Entering Second Stage Monday

The two junior high school quintets which met for the championship in 1954 clash Monday night at Jackson Township School in the second round of tournament play.

Darby, last year's winner, beat Wayne Saturday 48 to 29. Washington, who will be Darby's opponent drew a first round bye.

Last year's third place team also came out on top in Saturday's competition. Ashville bombed out Jackson 59 to 25.

Ashville will now meet Williamsport, who edged out Salt Creek 27 to 24. The outcome should be very interesting in view of the fact that in the senior high department, Ashville bumped Williamsport last Friday night.

Cincinnati Bearcat Cagers Set For Bid At Top Ranker

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati's Bearcats, bidding for a spot in the national rankings with a brilliant 13-3 record after toppling tough Miami Saturday night, face two top foes this week in the headliners of a 30-game program for Ohio's collegiate basketball.

Dayton, defeated 85-78 by the Bearcats two weeks ago but ranked 18th nationally, is idle until next Sunday when the Flyers meet Xavier's Musketeers at Cincinnati.

Of the abbreviated 30-game slate this week, 18 are scheduled next Saturday as the boys go back into action after mid-year exams, and 17 are against out-of-state foes.

One of the week's big games sends Findlay's Oilers against Ohio Northern Saturday at Ada. The two teams are tied for the Mid-Ohio League lead with 6-1 records. Northern paces the state pack with a 9-1 mark, and Findlay is tied for third with 10-2.

Wooster and Marietta, deadlocked for the Ohio Conference top spot with 4-0 marks, also see action. Wooster entertains Heidelberg (3-4 in the loop) while Marietta is host to Ohio Wesleyan, which has a 4-3 league mark. The co-leaders meet Feb. 3 at Wooster in the game which might decide the title.

Tommy Bolt Cops San Diego Open

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The 1955 San Diego $15,000 open golf tournament will be officially registered as one captured by Tommy Bolt, with a 14-under-par 274.

In San Diego, however, it will be remembered as the one Gene Littler lost, beaten back to seventh with a score of 279.

Sandwiched between Bolt and Littler, in the official records, will be the names of Johnny Palmer, runnerup to Bolt; Ted Kroll; Freddie Haas Jr.; Bo Winger and Jack Burke.

Bolt surged into in front with his first-round 64 and never let loose.

Top Runners See Indoor Mark Falling

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gunnar Nielsen and Wes Santee each predicts he'll break the world indoor mile record this winter. Each will have plenty of chances in a duel set up for the eastern boards.

With a victory apiece, they'll meet again in Boston Saturday.

Nielsen made Santee look bad in winning the Washington Evening Star Games mile Saturday. The Dane beat the Kansas star by 15 feet, pulling away on the last lap as if Santee were standing still. The night before, in the Inquirer Games at Philadelphia, Santee came home eight yards ahead.

Nielsen said he was sure he'd lower the record of 4:05.3 before the next six weeks are over. That record is held by Gil Dodds, who set it in New York in 1948.

Santee called his Washington defeat "just one of those breaks" and complained that the pace was so slow he had to take the lead far too early.

It was the same complaint registered by Nielsen after his Philadelphia loss.

Nielsen was clocked in the brilliant time of 4:09.5 over the slow flat track at the National Guard Armory here.

Victories Come After Many Tries

CHICAGO (AP)—It took a long time but it was worth waiting for was the exclamation of Steve Nagy and Sylvia Wene today following their victories in the National All-Star bowling tournament.

Nagy, who came from second place to overtake Ed Lubanski of Detroit in the final round, came in third in 1948. Miss Wene, 26-year-old Saleslady from Philadelphia, finished second last year and in 1951.

Jail List Drops

MADRID (AP)—Spain's prison population is officially reported at its lowest level since 1930. The Information Ministry said 21,015 prisoners of all kinds were on hand Jan. 5. A high point was 34,526 in July, 1936.

Sea Service Opens

ANCONA, Italy (AP)—Sea communications between Italy and Yugoslavia reopened this week after a 14-year break. The 2,250-ton Italian steamer Valforita inaugurated an Adriatic service including stops at several Yugoslav ports.

Film Censoring Said Personal Responsibility

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The chairman of the Ohio Senate Education Committee calls movie censorship "resignation of personal responsibility."

State Sen. Charles A. Mosher (R-Oberlin) debated state film reviewing with Clyde Hissong, former state education director, on a Columbus Town Meeting program over WBNS and WBNS-TV.

Mosher, an Oberlin newspaper publisher, said responsibility for good pictures should rest with the producer, exhibitor and "above all, with the parent and individual."

Film censorship in Ohio has been in question since the Ohio Supreme Court last Dec. 1 held that "any censoring order made by the Department of Education pursuant to the Censorship Act is unconstitutional and unlawful."

Hissong said the films coming into Ohio without the movie industry's own code seal—about 40 per cent of the total—offered the greatest danger.

"We don't have to worry about 'code' pictures," he said, "Somebody should have pre-control on the non-code pictures, when the industry itself won't pass on them."

These Days

The point of the matter is that Chou leaves us three alternatives: 1. Let the prisoners stay in China and rot there;

2. Throw the bomb at Red China; 3. Recognize them on condition that they graciously permit all Americans now held in China to be returned to the United States, and we would have to take their word that they are sticking to their contract as we do not know many they hold.

Whether we are patient or impatient will affect the situation little unless we go to war, which we do not want to do. Therefore, we are stuck with a bad mess and we might as well face it.

I recently saw a screening of a motion picture, "Bamboo Prison," which was made by Bryan Foy with rare sensitivity. This picture gives a dramatic impression of what a Chinese prison is and how Americans are treated. It is all a story, but I could not help thinking of our boys who are still eating millet and having their brains washed and I realize that the real trouble is that nobody knows what to do about it.

Thugs Strike Again

DAYTON (AP)—Dayton's Friday night bandits have struck for the third straight week. Last week two men wearing nylon stocking masks robbed the West Mart of $100. On previous Fridays, they got a total of $4,500.

Kyger Creek Ready To Open Power Service

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP)—Electric power from the huge new Kyger Creek power plant will begin supplying the vast needs of the Portsmouth Area atomic plant this week.

George C. Halfinger, plant general manager, said the first of the plant's 200,000 kilowatt units is ready to send power to the atomic plant, which will utilize the entire output.

The 145 million dollar steam-generating plant has a rated capacity of one million kilowatts. It originally was scheduled to start operations next April.

Located 15 miles north of here, the Kyger Creek plant is second in size only to one other steam-generating plant at Madison, Ind.

As the plant prepared to hum, dust collectors and automatic instruments were ready to check

Halfinger said the instruments, known as Thomas autometers, will check air content in Gallipolis, Midleport and Point Pleasant.

He said the dust collectors will check on mechanical collectors, which are designed to remove 95 per cent of the dust from plant boilers.

Examiner Reports $7,307 Shortage

The examiner's report reveals how the loss was done. The examiner said Amey disclosed that Police Chief Elmer Merriam was present when the loss was discovered, and that the mayor requested such officer to make no investigation of the apparent robbery and that no other law enforcement officers were informed of such matter.

"In questioning Mr. Merriam about this purported robbery, he informed us that in accordance with the request of Mr. Amey, no investigation was made, nor was such matter reported to other law enforcement officers, or to local city officials."

Thus no public record was made of the incident.

Near the end of the examination, members of the city police department discovered $1,025 in currency under a lower drawer of a desk in police headquarters. Amey had used this desk in his office while mayor. The two offices adjoin in city hall.

Envelopes containing the currency showed that this money represented cash bonds posted by various persons for appearance in mayor's court. Since these persons had appeared in court and received refunds of their bonds from the mayor, the money was turned over to the former mayor and applied in payment of the findings returned against him.

THE EXAMINER'S report in another section said:

"In checking the register of arrests maintained by the police department, we found numerous instances where such record indicated that the arrested parties had been prosecuted and sentenced in the Circleville mayor's court, yet their cases were not recorded upon the criminal dockets.

"In such instances, neither the affidavits nor original arrest reports were found by your examiners. Since our investigation of certain of these cases indicated that they had been tried and sentenced by the mayor, there is no doubt that the papers incident to such cases were forwarded to the mayor.

"Thus same were either lost or were intentionally destroyed. We are unable to determine the exact cause for the loss of these records; therefore we will leave the determination of how such records disappeared to the discretion of the proper local authorities.

"Our examination also revealed that various court collections were made by members of the city police department, who were usually on desk duty at the time. The policy in this respect was to place the funds collected in an envelope and deposit same in counter drawer at police headquarters. These collections were later removed by the mayor, with no receipt being exchanged, substantiating the receipt of such funds into his custody.

"When Mr. Amey assumed the office of mayor, the policy was followed whereby the mayor's official receipt book was used to receipt for funds collected in the police department, thus he would readily know what court collections were thus received in his name.

"THIS POLICY was changed by the mayor shortly after he assumed office, by issuing a separate receipt book to the police department for their use, yet no change was made in the policy of removing funds from the police department without receipting therefor.

"We wish to state at this time that all of the receipt books maintained by the police department under this newly established policy, disappeared prior to this examination. Here again we are unable to determine the reasons for such disappearance of public records.

"The numerous irregularities, as above stated, caused us considerable additional work in making this examination, as it was necessary, in numerous instances, to contact the parties prosecuted in the mayor's court to ascertain a true picture of what transpired in their particular case.

"These contacts clearly revealed that the official mayor's court records were incorrect in numerous instances, also that a considerable amount of court collections were not accounted for upon such records, nor deposited with the proper treasuries."

At another place the report said: "All carbon copy duplicate receipts issued by the police department personnel covering collections of the above nature (bail bonds) were apparently destroyed prior to this audit; at least they were not presented to us for the purpose of examination."

The examination brought to light the case of a Columbus man who was fined $150 and $12.10 costs on a drunk driving charge and sentenced to 90 days in the county jail for driving after his license had been revoked. The second penalty was later changed to show a fine of $175 and $12.10 costs on the mayor's books.

ACCORDING to a sworn affidavit made by this defendant, he was released from the county jail after he had served 10 days and brought by the mayor in the latter's car to the North American plant in Columbus to resign his job for the purpose of collecting the wages due him and apply this on his fine.

In his affidavit he says that he and his mother paid the mayor $389.20 and turned over his car for $25 in settlement of the cases. The mayor's records show that he turned in only $319.20. Examiners say that he had admitted selling the car for $35. There was nothing to show that the city got the $35.

In an affidavit made by another defendant, who was fined $100 and costs on a drunk driving charge, he said that he turned over three guns, valued at $90, as security until the fine was paid. He swore that he had never gotten the guns back and never paid his fine. The mayor told the examiner that he returned the guns but did not get a receipt for them.

This was the basis of a finding of $108.70 against Amey, the amount of the fine and costs.

In reference to the mayor's clerk, the report said: "We also wish to state that in our opinion the various discrepancies incident to this (mayor's) office were not the fault of the clerk, it being the established procedure for the mayor to record the disposition of the various cases upon the original affidavits, same being also numbered by such officer to correspond with the docket pages.

"Also the clerk was instructed to post all collections to the cash book record from the carbon duplicate copies of receipts issued. Our examination revealed that all postings were made strictly in accordance with the affidavits and receipt submitted to the clerk, in this regard."

ON THE subject of jail releases, the report said:

"Our examination of the Pickaway County sheriff's jail register, relative to the prisoners who were released from the custody upon the payment of the balance due for fines and costs imposed in the Circleville mayor's court, disclosed that certain collections received in this respect were not accounted for upon the mayor's court records.

"In such instances, a procedure was followed whereby the sums due for the release of prisoners was paid to the mayor, with an official release signed by the mayor being forwarded to the sheriff to order the prisoners' release. However, in some instances the mayor's name was signed to these releases by a member of the city police department, with the collection being made by such officer.

"As previously stated, the funds collected by the police department employees were placed in envelopes and deposited in a drawer at police headquarters, with such funds later being removed from the drawer by the mayor and with no receipts being issued by such officer to substantiate receipt thereof."

The examiner's report emphasized that the manner in which the records of the mayor's office were kept caused the audit to extend beyond the usual time required, with resulting added expense to the taxpayers.

The examination, in all, covered the period between Sept. 1, 1951, until June 19, 1954, thus covering a portion of the administration of former mayor Thurman I. Miller.

IN REFERENCE to this portion of the checkup, the report said:

"The affairs of the mayor's office relative to the accounting of court revenues and license fees, etc., and the distribution of same, were accomplished in an efficient and satisfactory manner during the period covered by the activities of Mayor Thurman Miller."

Lima Mayor, 70, Dies Saturday

LIMA (AP)—Mayor W. L. Ferguson, 70, of Lima, died Saturday at Memorial Hospital. He suffered a heart attack last Tuesday.

Twice mayor of Lima, Ferguson was born in Auglaize County and was a resident of Lima since 1904. He was employed for 40 years by The Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton Corp.

He will be succeeded by Clyde Welty, Lima's council president and acting mayor during Ferguson's brief illness.

Fish Chowder Gets New Definition

PARIS (AP)—It's still fish chowder, but the French Academy's revised dictionary is giving bouillabaisse a break. The 1931 edition calls bouillabaisse "provincial fish soup with slices of bread."

Academy members working on the revision have agreed to toss that out in favor of the definition: "Provincial dish prepared with saffron, oil and boiled rock fish." Add your own garlic.

Many Dimes Sought

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—The Junior Chamber of Commerce effort to collect a mile of dimes Saturday for the March of Dimes was short by 77,280 dimes. Chairman Charles R. Bashiell said 12,480 dimes — $1,248 — were collected. At 17 dimes to a foot that's 734 feet or roughly one eighth of a mile.

Career Army Major Facing Court-Martial

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP)—Maj. Ambrose Nugent, a 44-year-old career artilleryman, goes before a general court-martial board today in what he calls the "most critical period of my life."

Nugent is charged with collaborating with the enemy while an Army prisoner of war in Korea. Ten colonels on the board will decide whether he is innocent or guilty.

Nugent, of Merrill, Wis., faces trial on 13 counts alleging violations of the Articles of War and the Uniform Code of Military Justice. The most serious charge accuses the World War II combat veteran of offering intelligence to his Communist captors. The Army says the offense is treasonable.

If 7 of the 10 colonels find him guilty, Nugent could be sentenced to life imprisonment. Maj. Gen. Edward T. Williams, commanding general of Ft. Sill, has ordered the death penalty not be considered.

Nugent is also accused of making radio broadcasts blaming the war on "capitalistic Wall Street warmongers," impeding the escape of fellow prisoners and permitting the use of his photograph and signature on surrender leaflets.

Nugent denies all charges. He says his sole aim was to protect the lives and general welfare of his men. Nugent served 33 months in Europe and was a member of the 24th Division at the outbreak of the Korean hostilities.

Christmas Skates Lead To Death

DETROIT (AP)—Since Christmas, 15-year-old Carol Giacobazzi yearned to use her new ice skates, a present.

But she had been ill. So she spent her free time with her books and oil painting and poetry. In high school she was an all-A student.

Yesterday, the glimmering ice of Lake St. Clair was a lure.

Carol pleaded with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Giacobazzi for permission to go skating. They finally agreed.

The ice broke beneath Carol and her companion Sandy Shern, also 15, about 800 feet offshore.

Two small boys heard their cries and raced for help.

Another skater, Gerald Miller, 19, responded. He raced to the hole in the ice. Lying prone, he pulled Sandy to safety. But he couldn't save Carol.

JURY TO PROBE AMEY'S BOOKS

7th Fleet 'At The Ready' For Eisenhower's Orders

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, commander of the U. S. 7th Fleet, said today before President Eisenhower asked Congress for approval of evacuation of the Tachen Islands that the fleet is standing "at the ready."

The admiral said the chief executive was taking his course because "it would be a very grave move and a major change in policy." But he said the fleet, if called upon, could cope with any eventuality.

Pride said the fleet, prepared for the evacuation and to protect other offshore islands, if so ordered, includes four large carriers, the Essex, Yorktown, Kearsarge and Wasp.

"I am not free to say what we plan to do," the admiral said aboard his flagship, the cruiser Helena, at Keelung. "Quite naturally, the 7th Fleet deploys in the best way it can to fulfill its mission."

"We must necessarily keep abreast of affairs in this part of the world and the Tachen situation is very much in our mind."

HE SAID THAT, in addition to the carriers, the 7th Fleet "normally includes two to four cruisers." Pride said a fifth carrier, the Princeton, also was assigned to the fleet but "not on this beat."

Reports of unfriendly submarines in this region have been current the last year but were "pretty vague," Pride declared.

He said the Communist air, sea and land attack on Yikiangshan, Nationalist outpost which fell to the Reds Thursday, was well executed but did not represent the

Communists' maximum effort. Asked what he thought about Yikiangshan's fall, Pride said:

Innocent Cases To Be Delayed By City Judge

Anyone who pleads innocent to offenses in Circleville Municipal Court will have the case indefinitely continued—until Circleville decides what to do about the city solicitor problem.

Judge Sterling Lamb said Monday that he had no alternative but to take this drastic action. He said he is disturbed over city council's failure to approve promptly a plan to have Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer help out as assistant city solicitor.

"I certainly cannot act as a prosecutor," the judge declared. "All the other attorneys in town have been donating their time with the idea that George Gerhardt would return to his duties."

Gerhardt, city solicitor, suffered a heart attack last summer. Judge Lamb, at that time, drafted a journal entry in which local attorneys took turns prosecuting city cases.

HOWEVER, the time limit on the temporary setup ends the first week in February. And since Gerhardt had declared that he has no intention of running for office again, other lawyers have become reluctant to serve without pay.

There is an assistant city solicitor, Kenneth Robbins. However, Robbins must be paid at the rate of $8 per hour and was hired for special work.

"Why, in just three days a week," Judge Lamb pointed out, "he would earn more than the city is already paying Gerhardt."

He pointed to a plan still under study by council. This would call for Ammer to take over criminal prosecutions, with Gerhardt turning over $50 of his monthly pay to Ammer for that portion of the solicitor's job.

"I am not going to schedule any more cases until this mess is cleaned up," the judge asserted. "There is nothing dishonest in the proposal to employ Ammer."

"SOME COUNCILMEN seem to think we are trying to pull a fast one. On the contrary, this plan will be to the advantage of the public."

Ammer said he would turn down the offer if anyone thought there was anything "underhanded" in it. He said that "if this is going to turn into a squabble, then we just might as well forget about it."

Asked what will happen now if anyone pleads innocent, Judge Lamb said, "I don't know. Right now, today, we have no one acting as city attorney here."

Congress Asked For Power To Use Military

Defense Of Formosa, Evacuation Of Chiang's Men From Isles Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, a former five-star general and the nation's commander-in-chief, today asked Congress for authority to use "the armed forces of the United States if necessary to assure the security of Formosa and the Pescadores" against Communist attack.

In a special message, the President said that redeployment of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalist forces from other islands "would be impractical without the assistance of the armed forces of the United States because of the air situation."

He said the United States must be ready to help the Chinese Nationalists redeploy their forces.

Eisenhower added: "In the interest of peace, the United States must remove any doubt regarding our readiness to fight, if necessary, to preserve the vital stake of the Free World in a free Formosa, and to engage in whatever operations may be required to carry out that purpose."

If Red planes attacked the U. S. forces, that could lead to an immediate clash of arms with the Communists.

Eisenhower said the existing and developing situation around Formosa "poses a serious danger to the security of our country and of the entire Pacific area and indeed to the peace of the world."

THE CHIEF executive then said the situation "is one for appropriate action of the United Nations under its charter, for the purpose of ending present hostilities in that area."

The President said the United States "would welcome assumption of such jurisdiction" by the U. N. in an attempt to arrange a cease fire between the Chinese Nationalists and the attacking forces of Red China.

Declaring the actions the United States must be ready to undertake "are of various kinds," Eisenhower added:

"For example, we must be ready to assist the Republic of China to redeploy and consolidate its forces if it should so desire."

"Some of these forces are scattered throughout the smaller offshore islands as a result of historical rather than military reasons directly related to defending Formosa."

"Because of the air situation in the area, withdrawals for the purpose of redeployment of Chinese Nationalist forces would be impractical without assistance of the armed forces of the United States."

"Moreover, we must be alert to any concentration or employment of Chinese forces obviously undertaken to facilitate attack upon Formosa, and be prepared to take appropriate military action."

Cy Young Helps Own Postoffice

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postoffice Department changed its mind today and decided to keep the Peoli, Ohio, postoffice open as a favor to Denton (Cy) Young, one of baseball's all-time pitching greats. Originally, the department was going to shut down the tiny postoffice and establish a star route. About 11 families and Young get their mail there.

Young is the 87-year-old former Cleveland, Boston and St. Louis pitcher who recorded 511 major league victories in 23 years.

Firemen came to his aid, and entering his house, removed his wife, Mae, 48, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Georgia Stevens, 48, to a hospital where all were released after treatment for gas fumes.

Elsewhere in the county the Mothers' March is already under way, and will continue through Thursday. The dramatic effort by the mothers is the traditional highlight of the annual campaign against polio.

The Mothers' March in the townships was arranged over a four-day span because of the extra planning needed to reach the scattered homes.

Next Thursday night, in Circleville and Ashville, a light on the

Lausche Drops Hint He May Oppose Bender

DAYTON (AP) — Gov. Frank J. Lausche yesterday left open the possibility he will seek a U. S. Senate seat in 1956, opposing Sen. George Bender, elected last fall by a slim margin.

During a discussion of his political future, Lausche said he does not plan to run for a sixth term as governor, and indicated he is not seeking the Democratic presidential or vice presidential nomination.

Lausche dismissed reports he might seek national office as "speculation," and said he would not make any speeches outside Ohio "until December, 1956." He emphasized this covered the presidential campaign season.

Asked if he might make speeches inside Ohio as, for example, a candidate for U. S. senator, Lausche asked not to be pressed on this question.

He said his problems as governor are so large that he does not want to become occupied with anything else, including political speculation, while in office.

The governor said he did not plan to seek a sixth term.

"My present hope and expectation is to retire from the office of governor in 1956 and not to be a candidate again," he said.

Lausche has usually kept from making advance political commitments. He did not announce he would seek a fourth term until less than a month before the deadline for filing his application.

'Dangers' Remain

MANILA (AP) — President Ramon Magsaysay said in his State of the Nation message today the Philippines must strengthen its internal and external security against Communist aggression because "grave dangers still remain."

Examiner Reports $7,307 Shortage

Former Mayor Pays Full Amount; Describes Robbery At City Hall

Shortages totaling $7,307.33 in the accounts of former Mayor Edward M. Amey of Circleville were disclosed in a state examiner's report today. Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer said he will turn details of the audit over to the January term of the Grand jury.

The shortages, for which Amey has made full restitution, were revealed in an examination of city books by the State Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices. The checkup was conducted here for several months last year by examiner R. B. Sullivan, whose report was released Monday by State Auditor James A. Rhodes. Ammer said he will bring the report to the attention of the Grand Jury when it reconvenes here Feb. 28.

Amey, who served as mayor from Jan. 1, 1952, until Dec. 31, 1953, is now employed by a construction firm in Columbus and continues to reside in Circleville. In the examiner's report, 12 findings were made against the former mayor. In another, he was named jointly with William F. McCrady, former police chief here.

Examiner Sullivan's report on all city departments listed 27 findings, for a total of $7,926.80. Only $511.87 of that amount remained to be paid by those obligated when the examiner finished his work here last November.

Although the mayor's office dominated the list of findings, the report also made many references to other municipal departments. A separate article dealing with these will be published by The Herald Tuesday.

The total shortage listed against Amey represents part of the $102,338.73 collected during his term, as shown by his cash book.

The report gave reasons for the shortages as follows: Shortage in account, Jan. 31, 1954, $2,801.07; collections not accounted for, $417; costs due chief of police, $45.50; collections not accounted for, etc., $1,097.80; interest on past due moneys, $323.13; release from county jail unaccounted for (jointly with former police chief), $332; fine money due city, $95; fine money due city, $108.70; mayor's court collections withheld, $652.45; same, $145.65; same, $140.50; same, $1,002.91; same, $145.62.

THE STORY uncovered by the

The examiner's report reads: "Upon questioning Mr. Amey about this shortage, he stated that on January 4, 1954 (after his term had expired), he discovered that the safe in his office had been opened by some unknown party and that approximately $5,400 in cash had been removed therefrom."

"It was also stated that no evidence was disclosed which would indicate that the safe had been tampered with, it being opened by working the combination and through the use of a key to the inside compartment where the money was kept."

All mention of this incident was withheld from the local public, and

Amey Now Aware Of 'Shortcomings'

Says He Also Seeks Answers; Offers Apologies For Record

Edward M. Amey, former Circleville mayor, said he does not claim to know the answers to many of the questions arising from a state examiner's study of Amey's official records.

"I'd like to know a lot of the answers myself," he declared, in commenting on a report submitted by examiner R. B. Sullivan. The report, released Monday by State Auditor James A. Rhodes, listed a total of $7,307.33 in findings against the former city official.

Amey, who has made full restitution, said he was glad to know that Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer will turn the examiner's report over to the January term of the Grand Jury. "I'll be glad to have it go to the jury," he said, "because in that way the weight of any decision will be taken off the prosecutor, and it will also help bring out all the facts."

"I've always liked Circleville and hope to continue to hold the real friends I've made in the city. I'm willing to continue to cooperate in any manner officially asked to untangle this matter, and to put it all in a better light."

AMEY SAID he is now fully aware of the "shortcomings" of his two-year administration, which ended Dec. 31, 1953. And he added: "The only thing I can say in general is that I apologize for the inefficient way in which the affairs of my office were handled. Had I been aware of how inefficient they were at the time, I would have taken immediate action to correct the faults shown up in the examiner's audit."

"I know now that I was much too lenient in many ways while I was serving as mayor, but it was a leniency that was well intended."

"Frankly I don't know the answer to that. I don't know the answers to a lot of the questions. I'd like to know them myself."

"A MISSING receipt book? I just don't know where it went. I know that, now and then, records would disappear—and return. But why

Cleveland Badly Burned By Fireball

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Whatever it was, William C. Cunningham, 32, will tell you it was mighty hot.

He was standing in his bedroom in suburban Darby Township yesterday when he heard a crash of glass, turned and saw a fireball, about the size of a grapefruit, bounce off an oil heater to the floor. That it exploded.

His first thought was to throw the object out the window. He said: "It was hot and heavy and as I threw it, it blazed up and seemed to disintegrate. Some of it landed on the bed and exploded again."

Cunningham's right hand was burned almost to the bone.

Fire Marshal Francis X. Joseph of Delaware County said it might have been a meteorite. He tested it with a 1,700-degree flame from a propane torch but the object only glowed. He got no reaction with a magnet.

However, Dr. C. P. Oliver, emeritus professor of astronomy at the University of Pennsylvania, and Dr. I. M. Levitt, director of Fels Planetarium, both expressed doubt that it was a meteorite.

Dr. Oliver said: "From everything that I have been told by the firemen and the fact that the object came through the window at an angle instead of through the roof, I believe it may have been a homemade bomb."

Navy Divers Find Ohio Flier's Body

CHERRY POINT, N. C. (AP) — Navy divers yesterday recovered the body of Lt. Charles Bryan Manning, Marine pilot from Middletown, Ohio. The body was found in Bay River where Manning's AD4 Douglas Skyraider crashed in the river in about 10 feet of water.

Manning failed to report from the last of 10 practice bombing runs in a mission last Tuesday.

Mainly About People

ONE MINUTE PULPIT
Now when John heard in prison the words of Christ, he sent two of his disciples, and said unto him, art thou he that should come, or do we look for another — Luke 7:22. The civilized world is well agreed that Jesus was indeed the Christ. His influence upon civilization is measurelessly greater than all other philosophers and preachers in human history. The whole world dates time from his birth.

Amey Now Sees 'Shortcomings' Of His Regime

this happened, or how, I just don't know.

"I know very definitely that in many cases I placed records where they were supposed to go—and later these records disappeared altogether. I can't explain it."

In this connection, Amey recalled how the location of his office and the police station were exchanged around the middle of his term, having now been returned to the arrangement first used when he took office. He said it was possible that some needed papers were mislaid, lost or unintentionally destroyed at that time.

The former mayor was questioned in particular on details surrounding an incident that occurred shortly after he went out of office.

Amey told the state examiner that, on January 4, 1954, he discovered the large safe used by his office had been opened and that approximately $5,400 in cash was taken.

Amey said there was no evidence that the safe and an inside cash box had been forced open. The money, he added, has yet to be found.

"IT'S TRUE indeed that I asked Elmer (Chief of Police Elmer Merriam) not to investigate the robbery, and the reason I did that was because I felt sure the money would be returned. I was certain that whoever was responsible would bring it back."

"And even today I feel sure that, sooner or later, at least a large part of that fund will be found—but where or how I haven't the least idea."

"I don't want to reflect upon anyone in any way in connection with that matter, but the fact is that—as far as I know—the way to open the safe was known only to members of the police force and my clerk."

Amey stressed that, under the procedure being followed in the handling of cases, and to permit the clerk to perform his duties, this arrangement was necessary.

"But as far as I know, nobody else knew how to open the safe," he added.

In reference to the inside cash box, Amey said he was under the impression that he was the only one who had a key to it. And he added he had that key in his possession when both the safe and cash box were found open, and the money gone.

THE FORMER mayor said he does not recall ever leaving the cash box unlocked while the safe itself was locked.

Amey, 35, is now employed by a Columbus construction firm and resides in Circleville. Asked about the restitution he has made in full, he said:

"This has cost me a considerable amount of money, and I have already been asked where I got the money to make good the missing funds. The answer is that I have borrowed it from individuals, to whom I am making monthly payments to reimburse them."

The former official recalled that he made approximately $18,000 from his two years as mayor, adding:

"And that amount, as I have said publicly several times, is more money than I ever made on a job before."

He went on, however, to cite one instance to be considered "if I wanted to take money that didn't belong to me."

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

JAMES LONG
James F. Long died Sunday in his home near Five Points.

Mr. Long, a lifelong resident of Monroe Township, was born Feb. 26, 1880.

Surviving him are his wife, Hilda Long; three sons, Francis, Carl, and Ben, all of the Five Points community; a daughter, Mrs. Bob Lewis, of near Five Points; two sisters, Mrs. Alma Goldsberry of Johnstown and Mrs. Martha Anderson of Monroe Township, and four brothers, Henry, Willy, Herschel and Ralph, all of Monroe Township.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Snyder Funeral Home of Mt. Sterling. Burial will be in the Mt. Sterling Cemetery.

Friends may call in the funeral home at any time.

Congress Asked For Power To Use Military

to act quickly on the President's request. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee called a meeting for mid-afternoon today to hear Secretary of State Dulles and consider a resolution in line with the President's proposal.

The most immediate threat by the Chinese Reds is to the Tachen Islands, about 200 miles north of Formosa, which are reported to be held by 20,000 Chinese Nationalist regulars.

Eisenhower's request would open the way for use of U. S. sea and air power to remove these troops from the islands.

A Taipei dispatch reported some civilians are already being moved from the Tachens to Formosa. It said about 315 children were in the first movement and were due to arrive at Formosa tomorrow. There was no word whether the U. S. Navy assisted.

Eisenhower noted that the 7th Fleet was directed in 1950, when the Korean fighting broke out, to defend Formosa against any Communist attack.

He said the reasons for that move are still valid, and told the Congress:

"What we are now seeking is primarily to clarify present policy and to unite in its application. We women had to be removed by city officials from their Southend home to the Pickaway County infirmary. Amey said he was the one who found about $2,000 while he and C. O. Leist, at that time city health and safety director, were checking over the premises to protect any valuables owned by the two women.

"I could have easily kept that money for myself if I wanted to take money that didn't belong to me," he said.

Amey said he was under the impression that he was the only one who had a key to it. And he added he had that key in his possession when both the safe and cash box were found open, and the money gone.

60 Eshelman Employees Honored; Local Plant Marks Anniversary

Sixty employees of John Eshelman and Sons were honored at a company dinner Saturday evening in the Community Center of EUB Church. Service pins for 10, 15, 20, and 25 years service were presented to employees.

Presentation of the pins was made by H. R. Eshelman Jr., assisted by Howard Beidleman, Leslie Rihl and Luther Bower. Brief addresses expressing appreciation were made by Eshelman and D. J. Carpenter.

The tables were decorated with red roses, and rose corsages were presented to the ladies. Entertainment was provided by Earl March, accordionist, and the Harmonaires of Columbus. Two hundred and eighty employees and their wives or husbands attended the dinner, served by the ladies of the church.

The committee in charge of arrangements included: Luther Bower, chairman; Leslie Rihl; Roloff Wolford; D. J. Carpenter; H. R. Eshelman Jr.; Lawrence W. Hoffman, and Roger Lozier.

6 Teenagers Handed Fines In Gas Thefts

Six teenagers received fines in Municipal Court as the result of a roundup which may have broken up a widespread county gasoline stealing gang.

Ralph Salyers, 19, of Circleville Route 2, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to six months in jail Monday. The jail term was suspended by city judge Sterling Lamb and Salyers was put on probation for that length of time.

Five others were fined Saturday in court. Also receiving the same punishment as Salyers were: Merda J. Marshall Jr., of Circleville; Walter Davis, of Circleville; and Thurman Murphy, of Ashville Route 1. All are in their late teens.

Willard Salyers, of Stoutsville Route 1, accused by State Patrolman Jim Gates of being the ring leader, and Estill Burchette, of Ashville Route 2, received the same fine as the others but must serve out 10 days of the jail term. They will be on probation for the remainder of the jail term.

Also implicated are at least seven juveniles, most of whom were picked up by city police. Patrolman Gates caught Willard Salyers and Burchette "red-handed" with some stolen gasoline in their car on a routine check.

Shortly after they retired Sunday night, members of the Charles Hall family were awakened by smoke coming from the kitchen. They summoned the fire department.

Fire Chief Talmer Wise estimated the damage at several hundred dollars. The firefighters spent an hour extinguishing the blaze.

World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press
News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek seems headed for a ripe old age with a paper sword unless the United States gets into a fight with Red China.

Chiang, although he had American aid which many Republicans later said wasn't enough, had his ears beaten off by the Chinese Communists in 1949. He fled to Formosa with the Nationalist Chinese who stuck by him.

President Truman took a dim view of him and said the United States would not defend Formosa from Red attack. Truman changed his view later in 1950 when the Red Chinese got into the Korean War.

He ordered the 7th Fleet to protect Formosa from Red attack and to keep Chiang from hitting the mainland. Truman didn't want the war to spread. Subsequently, Formosa was considered essential to American defense.

This country armed the Nationalists with field equipment, ships and planes, some of them jets. As one of his first acts, President Eisenhower said he was ordering the 7th Fleet to let Chiang hit the mainland.

Chiang did very little hitting. He didn't have the strength then, and doesn't now, to invade the mainland without American support, at least in the form of transportation, supplies and air cover.

He has perhaps 550,000 men. The Red Chinese reportedly have more than 2 million. The Communists have equipment they've turned out themselves, plus modern equipment from Russia.

Without the 7th Fleet and the American equipment given him, Chiang would hardly be in a position even to defend Formosa, much less invade the mainland.

Yet the hopes of Chiang, his Nationalists and those mainland Chinese who hate the Reds have been built around the chance that someday he would return to China.

But the United States wants peace in Asia. Right now there is shooting. Chiang is defending his outlying islands from Red attack. If it gets worse, the United States may wind up in war with Red China.

But if the present trouble quiets down, this is the prospect:

The Senate is expected to approve a mutual assistance pact with Chiang. That would put this country into war with the Red Chinese if they attacked Formosa and some other islands.

But Chiang has agreed not to attack the mainland without previous consultation with the United States. If the United States approved, it would be committed to back him up. That could lead to war with China.

Since it wants peace, this country is unlikely in the foreseeable future — unless the Reds attack — to okay an attack by Chiang. That means he'll have to stay bottled up on Formosa, getting older — he is 66 now — as he reviews his troops, who are also getting old.

Since the Reds are pledged to capture Formosa, the treaty means the United States is pledging itself to protect Formosa for as long as anyone can see into the future.

Most persons find that their hearing is less keen immediately after meals.

Hal Boyle Says:

Durante—Lots Of Noise

By JAMES BACON
(For Hal Boyle)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A visit to Jimmy Durante's modest home in Beverly Hills is an experience not unlike trying to drive to the Rose Bowl 10 minutes before game time. The crush is terrific.

I've been to Durante's many times and never have seen less than 10 people at any given time. Take the other day, just as an example.

A couple of NBC executives had called to talk over a business deal. I had dropped in for what might be called an interview. An electrician was working in the front room, oblivious to Eddie Jackson, Jules Buffalo and a half dozen other members of the Durante entourage.

The network brass cornered Jimmy but not for long. He was at the piano with an apologetic nod to the executives: "I just got of somethin'."

He played a few bars and yelled at Jackson: "Try singin' it dis way, Eddie." Jackson went into his famous strut and singing like he was the closing act at the Palace. Durante, cigar in his mouth, sang along without gestures. He stopped the music, said a word or two to me and rejoined the executives. But only for a minute. The doorbell rang and Jimmy answered it in person.

It was a new milkman who didn't know he had Durante for a customer. Durante grabbed him by the arm and took him on a tour of the house. Again he apologized to the executives: "I wanted to show him de jernt so he wouldn't leave no sour milk."

The brass obviously was not used to such informal business

conferences. It lasted a few minutes more and Jimmy yelled to the cook: "Hey, where's my breakfast?"

"It's been ready since noon," she yelled back twice as loud. It was now 4 p. m. He sat down and beckoned me and the executives to join him:

"When Durante eats, everybody eats." The executives had coffee and left. Jimmy disclosed they wanted him to stick more to a story line in his TV format.

"I told them OK. Dose writers got brains so I give 'em credit but don't forget Durante knows sometin' about laffs too. I'll stick to de story but I'm warnin', don't make it quiet. When people see Durante, they wanna hear lots of noise."

With that he sat down at the piano again and improvised some of the best barrelhouse piano I ever heard.

"How d'ya like dat I don't even know what I'm playin'?" Then he said, "here's a song I wrote." As he went into "I Can Do Widdout Broadway But Can Broadway Do Widdout Me" Jackson picked up a stray golf club instead of his cane, cocked a fedora instead of a top hat. It was showtime again and the two walked off in the famous Durante walkaway.

Two more people came in the front door. Jimmy greeted them in friendly fashion although it was obvious he couldn't remember their names. He yelled for the cook to fix some corn flakes.

"I got a millyun boxes of da stuff. I had a cornflakes sponsor last year. I ate da stuff for 30 years before it paid off."

Reluctantly I had to leave. Jimmy walked me to the door.

"Why don't you drop in sometime just for laffs?" he smiled. "Ya know, sometimes when you don't have to work at interviewin' me."

Death Calls, Leaves Tot, 6, All Alone

DALLAS (AP)—Six-year-old Cheryl Hambrook faced life alone today.

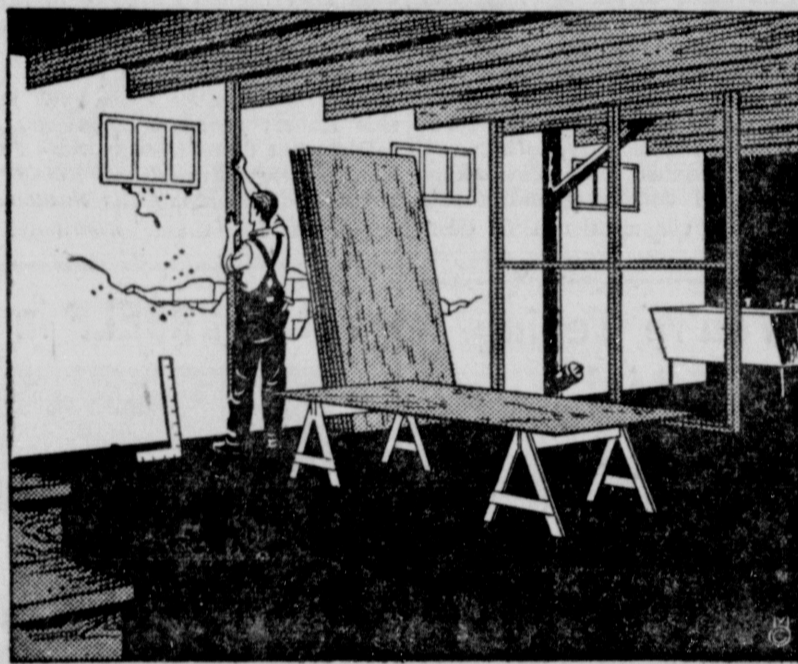

Thursday she and her father attended funeral services for her mother, who died of cancer. Yesterday her father Morgan Hambrook, 52, jobless grocery clerk, died trapped in his burning house.

Cheryl's teacher Mrs. Harry Black has been keeping her. "I told her her daddy had burned up in the house," Mrs. Black said.

"She looked at me for a second, then threw her arms around my neck for a long time. She never said a word."

Commies Polite To Jap Seamen

MOJI, Japan (AP)—A Red Chinese warship stopped three Japanese fishing vessels 80 miles southeast of Shanghai and ordered them out of Chinese waters, the Moji Maritime Board reported today. The fishing craft were released immediately, apparently in line with Red China's new program of being polite to Japanese seamen.

Judge Young Addresses Brotherhood

Pickaway County Probate Judge George D. Young was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood, held in the parish house.

Judge Young, who will soon yield the duties of his office to Guy Cline, spoke on the problems in juvenile delinquency. Judge Young declined to run again for office last year and plans to return to private law practice.

The Brotherhood meeting opened with group singing. President Pete Bowman was in charge of the devotionals with the reading of the 23rd Psalm.

Among guests at the gathering were: Betty Lou and Weta Mae Leist; the Rev. James Recob, pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church; Sammy McCloud and Jerry Easter. The Leist sisters entertained with four musical selections on their accordions.

RUSSELL SKAGGS read the secretary's report. Thirty-one members answered roll call. A rising vote of thanks was given to Lloyd Cox for the construction of a ping pong table. The group voted to purchase new lockers to store ping pong and shuffle board equipment.

Refreshments were served by Marion Steinhouser and his committee.

The famed ancient Colossus of Rhodes was a 105-foot bronze statue of Apoloo.

College Professor Is Disc Jockey

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—College students are inclined to think of their professors as strictly long-hair when it comes to music.

But not at Oklahoma A&M. The Aggies have a professor who is a disc jockey on a local radio station five nights a week. James C. Stratton is the dignified maestro of the turntables and, as the cats might put it, he's no square.

The professor's show is devoted mainly to jazz and he has quite a following among the swing and blues enthusiasts. Stratton can converse about classical orchestration or chamber music as easily as he can about jazz. The professor teaches in the journalism department.

Garbageman Sorry To Quit His Job

DETROIT (AP)—Raymond Middleton, 59, has stepped down from his city garbage truck for the last time. He has retired after 31 years on the job.

There was a tear in his eye. "It's hard to give up something you love," he said. "And this job I really loved. At first I hated it, but the longer I worked the more I grew to love it."

"I got to know my customers as well as the milkman," he added. "It's surprising how much you can find out about people by inspecting their garbage cans."

1955 NEW YORKER DELUXE ST. REGIS

STYLE-CONSCIOUS MOTORISTS are acclaiming the new Chrysler as America's most smartly different car. Longer, and inches lower than other big cars, Chrysler for 1955 exhibits the most striking new car design of recent years . . . even its new Super-Scenic Windshield (with sweptback posts for greatest, safest vision) enhances the car's sleek look of forward motion. Chrysler looks like the performance car of the year, too, with its new 250 hp V-8 engine and fully-automatic Power-Flite drive. Exclusive Full-time Power Steering . . . and Power Brakes with a new, safer acting double-width brake pedal . . . will certainly win a host of new friends. In all, this is a car too good to miss!

NO CHANGE IN RUSSIA

IN SPITE OF repeated assurances from various official sources that the cause of peace is to be advanced this year, people in the free world would feel more certain of this if it were not for the attitude of Chinese Communists. They continue to aggravate an already ticklish situation through military activity at a time when the world is presumed to be at peace.

One hundred red planes staged a day-long attack on the strategic Tachen islands, 200 miles north of Formosa. This is another incident in what has been termed the civil war with Chinese Nationalists. In these days of complicated world relations a civil war has a way of developing into a contest with more than restricted possibilities.

Sooner or later the situation in the Far East will involve outside interests, with forces of the free world compelled to take up the cause of Nationalist China. It must be taken for granted that Russia is back of these attacks, and the Chinese Communists are getting their orders from Moscow. Russian planes were used in the latest attacks, piloted by Russian-trained men.

There is only one conclusion to be drawn from these developments. Russia wants war in spite of its protests to the contrary. If 1955 is to be a year of peace Russia will have to change its tactics. There is little at this date to indicate any such change of heart in Moscow.

VICIOUS CYCLE

UNDER URGING of those who raise beets and cane the United States government has set up an intricate system of subsidies, tariffs and quotas to limit production and importation of sugar.

The government could let the sugar importation barriers down and give consumers lower prices. But to do so would be political disastrous. By permitting other commodities to revert to supply and demand the nation would have cheap prices. Then the government would be unable to draw off enough money to support its debt—created in part by subsidy payments to hold up prices—and meet rearmament costs.

Business would lack profits to expand and provide employment. Dollars would become scarce in a deflationary cycle which routed the political regime in which it happened. The trend definitely would be in the direction of more state socialism.

One may sigh for the good old days when eras of plenty were identified by low living costs. But the nation is now in a drastically controlled economy and the only way to live with it is to make enough dollars to pay high prices in the midst of plenty. Those who weaken are subsidized from tax funds.

These Days

It was difficult to understand, when he left for his safari to Peking, what Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations hoped to accomplish. So far as the American people are concerned, it was assumed that he went to see Chou En-lai to ask him to free the American prisoners of war who should have been exchanged at Panmunjom but who were detained as spies, which they could not be because they were in identifiable uniforms. It is euphemistic to call these men United Nations military personnel—they are Americans and they are the responsibility of our government.

So far as the Chinese people are concerned, Hammarskjold came a-begging, thus giving face to a government that has no seat in the United Nations. In a word, to use a Chinese expression, he kow-towed to the Communist government of China, strengthening that government's prestige in Asia where such a gesture is understood in Asiatic terms. Hammarskjold may wish for the recognition of Red China by the United Nations, but that, under the Charter, is none of his business.

The fact is that the fliers have not been freed. A large number of Americans are still held in China. No official figure has been disclosed by the American Government which probably can have no exact figure. Some are businessmen and missionaries; some are military personnel who have been reported missing in action or even dead. The Red Chinese have not even shown our government the courtesy of providing accurate data.

In the many years that I lived in China, during which I saw considerable military action, I never encountered what we would call a prison camp. Captives were either killed or incorporated in the capturing army. Many were permitted to escape, to save the cost of feeding and housing them, and they became bandits. The term bandit and soldier were interchangeable during the wars of the Tachuns, the civil wars that lasted from 1912 to about 1932, a period of almost constant internal strife.

The Red Chinese refinement is to call these men spies rather than bandits, to wash their brains rather than to incorporate them into their armies, to hold them as hostages for some advantage in their negotiations for recognition by the United States and the United Nations. The prisoners are hostages.

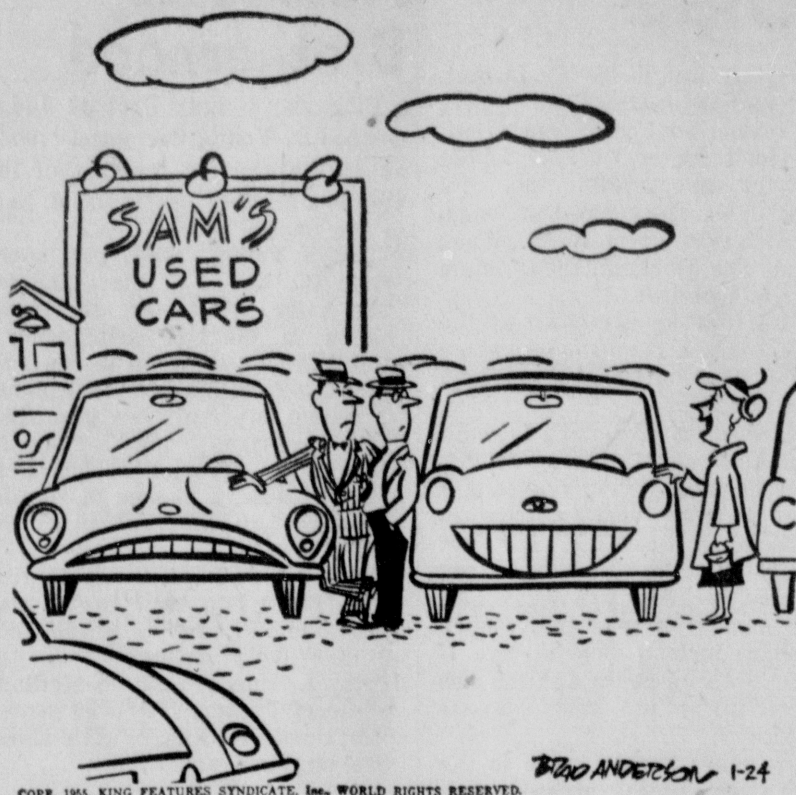

There is no reason to believe that the Red Chinese would change their conception of the entire question of prisoners of war to please Dag Hammarskjold who came to Peking empty-handed. If he could bargain with Chou En-lai, as one used to bargain with a pade dealer, that would have been a different matter, but Hammarskjold had no bargaining power and therefore he could only listen to their complaints and to their offers. But he could not get the fliers freed.

As a matter of fact, the Red Chinese showed their contempt for him and for the United States by starting another bombardment of the Tachen Islands while he was still in Peking and just leaving. Chinese courtesy—ke chi—would have indicated to Chou that the bombardment be held up until after he had arrived in New York, so that he, Hammarskjold, would not lose face, but the present regime in Peking pays no attention to such trivialities.

A Realistic Appraisal Of The Polio Menace

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

PROBABLY no disease holds more dread, or causes more worry for you parents, than poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis.

While polio, of course, is a terrible disease and has caused tragedy in many an American home, it is not the wholesale killer or paralyzing terror that most of you have come to believe.

I know you've probably been reading a lot of newspaper stories about polio and the current March of Dimes campaign. But I think a few more articles are in order to help you better understand just what polio is, what it does and does not do, and what you and science can do about it.

Incidentally, I want to urge you to support the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis' March of Dimes program before it ends next week. Polio is on the increase in the United States, and this organization is spearheading efforts to find an effective preventive.

Statistics Tell Story
Just how great a menace is polio? Well, let's look at some of the statistics.

The number of cases, of course, varies from year to year. In 1938, there were only 1,705 cases in the entire country. In 1952, the total was 57,628. More than 1,000 of these were in Chicago alone, and I had to declare that it had reached epidemic proportion there. There were about 40,000 cases in 1954.

Yet even in the worst years, the proportion of those stricken with diagnosed polio is relatively small. Actually, the chances of your child contracting a diagnosed case of polio during the first 20 years of his life is as low as 156 to one.

Adults Have Good Odds

You adults have even better odds. I'll explain why in another column.

Even if you or your youngster are stricken, you still have the odds in your favor. The National Foundation reports that 50 per cent of the recognized cases of polio recover completely. About 30 per cent show slight after-effects, and about 14 per cent are left crippled. Some six per cent may die. The death rate has been cut in half since the 1938-41 period.

Of the 14 per cent left severely handicapped, many are greatly aided through rehabilitation and special equipment. The 30 per cent suffering only a mild degree of paralysis usually are able to continue living an ordinary life with few, if any, restrictions.

Each year, on the average, the number of cases of measles, scarlet fever and tuberculosis is far greater than the reported cases of polio.

Still, for every recognized case of polio it's estimated there are at least 100 cases of unrecognized polio.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
E. M. J.: Is dilantin helpful? Will it increase the blood pressure?

Answer: Dilantin, properly employed under the physician's direction, is helpful. It is employed to control convulsions.

Try, Stop Me

H. Allen Smith tells about a reporter who heard of an apartment house fire and tried by phone to get somebody nearby to supply the details. By chance he was connected with a gent in the very apartment where the fire had started. Enchanted by finding himself an authority all of a sudden, the gent talked on and on, describing the progress of the flames, and the frantic efforts of the firemen to extinguish them. Finally, however, he said, "I guess I better hang up. I'm on fire myself!"

When Lewis Young, son of the noted New York hatter, was 16, he was allowed to help out at one of the stores on May 15, the day on which the entire male population used to buy straws for the summer season. One customer demanded an imitation panama. The only one the young Young could find was about four sizes too large, but that didn't stop him, so he plunked it onto the customer's head. It dropped down over the latter's ears, forehead and eyes. Young "Lew" enthused, "Looks marvelous on you! If only you could see yourself in this mirror!"

CHAPTER TWENTY

I LAID the brooch back in its glass box without stepping from the end of the dresser. I put the lid in its place but my hand stayed where it was, outstretched above the box. Something to the right of the dresser had moved. It was the other narrow door.

It took longer swinging open than I had any way of knowing. My hand was still extended over the dresser. For a second after the door stopped moving there was only the empty frame. Then Cricket stepped through.

She stood, turning her head from side to side, as if she could get my scent.

"Who in here?"

I didn't stir.

Slowly she started coming toward me, her groping hands exploring the space ahead of her like some insect with inquisitive antennae.

I was cornered between the end of the dresser and the window with Cricket moving into the narrow space formed by the dresser and the bed. I thought of the closet beside me but she would hear me open the door. I froze and waited.

She was only a few feet away now, one hand pointing toward me, the other feeling along the top of the dresser—running over each article as though to check its position. When the skinny fingers found the glass box they paused and removed the lid. Having felt the cameo they replaced the lid and continued their course toward my end of the dresser, manipulating slowly like someone playing silent notes on a mute keyboard.

When she reached the end of the dresser she was so close I could smell her breath, heavy with prune-like aroma of snuff. I was almost certain then that she could see, that her playing blind was a grotesque ruse. I flattened back into the window, making the most of the deep-silled recess, but there was no place to put my legs. Her hands played across the curtains within inches of my face. I stopped breathing and tried to subdue my heart as I watched the pinkish-tan palms make passes back and forth like the hands of a hypnotist.

I had reached the point where I thought I couldn't stand it any longer.

longer. She turned and, opening the closet beside her, explored it carefully. Closing it and nearly stepping on my foot, she went back along the bed and the dresser and began circling the rest of the room.

At the doorway to Anson's room she found the door open and stopped, whispering, "Mistuh Anson?"

Getting no answer, she swung around, pulling the door shut. Then she crossed the room again to the little doorway she had come through.

As she disappeared I heard her footsteps going down some stairs. It must be a service stairway from the rear of the house.

I got across the room as fast as I could, through the door into Anson's room and out to the hall. Once on the front stairs, I knew I could gain ground on Cricket. I got down to the library and was sitting in front of the fire by the time she groped her way to the library door.

She stood a moment, listening. I stirred the fire for her benefit, rattling the poker against the brass andirons.

She waited, giving me that uneasy impression once again that she could see, then, slowly, she moved back along the hall. The creaky board under her foot was the only sound.

When my breathing slowed a bit I walked closer to the portrait in the frame. This Belle, looking unsmilingly at me from the gold frame. What kind of person had she been? This morning Yoke Gairdner had said he wanted to help Harrison Purcell, but there had been a time he hadn't. Had Belle put her spell on everyone who knew her—Harrison Purcell, Anson's colorless father whatever his name had been, on her son? Or was it that Young Anson did something to things he touched that kept them in a state of lifeless suspension, like those dusty hawks up in his bedroom?

I moved over to the shelves of books. Down on the lower shelf beside Robert E. Lee's biography, I found what I was looking for—The Gentleman's Recreation: Being a Treatise of Hawking and Falconry.

It was in an old half morocco binding, published in London in 1868, not a large book but a beauty. There was one called Coursing and Falconry and several others, all on falconry, that looked like items for a collection. I took out a couple and thumbed through them, looking at the old plates.

I carried one book to the settee before the fire and, after lighting a cigarette, leaned through the text. It was laced with odd words like imping and hunger trace and mutes. There was a pleasant little tip on making a hawk kene for flight by keeping him awake the night before by the use of drogges. It was also suggested that the hawk be made ready for the kill by the offer of a taste of warm blood several hours before being flown. It didn't say what kind of blood.

A sound made me turn around. It was Dana, standing in the doorway.

I could see a change in her. More sharp-set, to use a phrase from the book I was holding.

"Cricket let me wait," I said. "I've been learning a little about falconry." As I laid the book between us I noticed she was shivering.

She saw me watching her and said, "It's cold outside."

I had a pretty good fire going but she got up and piled on more wood, sending sparks up the chimney. When she came back to the settee she kept her arms wrapped around herself as if she could still be cold with that blaze in front of us.

Turning away from the fire and looking me exactly in the eyes, she said, "Who are you?"

"My name's Charles Gratton. People who care to bother call me Grat. As I told you yesterday, I'm down here to take some pictures."

"Where do you live?"

It sounded naive. It might be something more. I took a drag on my cigarette.

"I'm not like you, with nice roots in an old homestead. I'm one of those people who move around." I told her a little about the kind of places I've been.

the news

WASHINGTON — Secretary John Foster Dulles professes no great concern over current disturbances in Central America for the simple reason that they result from personal political rivalries rather than from the Communist intrigue that forced emergency American intervention in Guatemala a few months ago.

Dulles, and Under Secretary Herbert Hoover Jr., who has made Central and South America his special province under State's division of diplomatic work, regard the vast area from the Texas border to Antarctica as "fully dependable," provided the United States helps these countries to solve their basic economic problems—inflation, shrinking markets for their goods, falling prices for major commodities, financing of post-war industrial developments.

handled on a basis of comradeship rather than "Yankee imperialism."

In Calvin Coolidge's day, for instance, United States Marines were landed whenever any local guerrilla outbreak within the vicinity of the Panama Canal seemed to threaten American interests, private or public.

Even the explosion of firecrackers on a fete day, according to the natives, would provoke our intervention on behalf of U.S. fruit, oil, shipping firms. In the eyes of the victims, it was selfish "dollar diplomacy."

PROGRAM — As a result of Cordell Hull's "good neighbor" policy and President Eisenhower's "partnership" idea, Latin-American countries themselves are policing their problems through the Organization of American States. When Washington sends troops, planes or warships to distressed areas, it is at their request.

At Dallas, Tex., next month, Milton Eisenhower will proclaim formally his brother's program for an expanded and co-operative continental development.

Meanwhile, Hoover has outlined the Eisenhower plan in preparatory conversations with Milton Eisenhower, and he has briefed Latin American representatives here on its general purposes. He has warned them that they need accept no vast amount of American financial assistance, and he found that they preferred private rather than government investments.

The U. S. Hoover explained, would encourage large loans for factories, refineries, railroads, hydroelectric plants, highways, etc., provided the borrowers created an atmosphere favorable to private enterprise. Drastic restrictions against employment of American executives, withdrawal of profits, export tariffs and other advantages must be softened or repealed.

PROGRESS — In advance of President Eisenhower's message on the subject, Hoover told of the White House proposal to reduce the tax on foreign profits of American firms from 52 to 38 per cent. In his opinion, the industrialization of South America can and will match the progress achieved in this country from 1890 to the present day, although more slowly and gradually.

By Ray Tucker

Hoover virtually talked as an economic and engineering adviser, and without pulling any punches. These countries, he pointed out, enjoyed a boom during World War II because of our purchases of their strategic materials at artificially high prices. The postwar decline in prices has damaged their economies, especially as many are one-crop or one-commodity producers.

SPENDING — Moreover, they spent these wartime profits foolishly and uneconomically, as any get-rich-quick individual might. The American under secretary urged them to plow future earnings back into their productive plant, and to industrialize and diversify. With these improvements, he pointed out, they will create a home market, based on higher wages and living standards, and will not be so dependent upon overseas customers.

As a result of these conferences, and despite recurrent differences in dealing with an emotional populace, Hoover believes that there is solid basis for sound political and economic relations between the United States and the 21 Latin-American republics.

Brownies, Cub Scouts Enjoy Columbus-Xenia Train Ride

Parents, Leaders Also Participate

The members of the Brownie Troops of Circleville and Pickaway County Girl Scouts participated in a train ride from Columbus to Xenia Saturday afternoon, leaving from the Columbus Union Station. The 20 coaches were filled with more than 1400 Brownies, Cub Scouts and parents. Refreshments were served from a baggage car during a stop at Xenia. CHINA — GLASS — GIFTS

Excitingly New... entirely Different decorative effect!

OPEN AND CLOSE LIKE DRAPERIES

Not only do the individual slats tilt like Venetians, for control of light and ventilation... The blinds can be drawn back, completely or part-way, like draperies!

Kirsch

VERTICAL (metal slat) blinds

PERFECT FOR ANY WINDOW

One glance tells you these are different. So many advantages! Much cleaner (dust can't lie on vertical metal surfaces!) Easy to operate. For use throughout the home—or in businesses and professions.

A WIDE RANGE OF COLOR COMBINATIONS

Come in and see the unlimited color schemes... in solid, contrasting, or harmonizing combinations. The distinctive fascia panel at top can easily be changed, to match or contrast with any other section of the blinds.

NO TAPES

Kirsch Vertical Venetians bring you new freedom from care. Metal slats stay clean... no tapes to clean or replace.

COMPLETE PRIVACY

The slats turn, like Venetians, for control of light, ventilation and privacy. Blinds draw like draperies, too!

BUILT TO LAST

Depend on the quality of this product by famous Kirsch Co. You can be sure these blinds will last for years!

Italian Star Slated For Ring Debut

NEW YORK (AP)—Most of boxing's new talent is coming from Europe these days. Another newcomer, Italy's Angelo Brisci, makes his U. S. debut tonight against scrappy Pete Adams of Newark, N. J., in the main 10-round at New York's St. Nicholas Arena. DuMont will telecast the bout at 10 p. m.

Paddy Young, a veteran on the comeback trail, and Tony Johnson, a youngster on the rise, collide in an all-New York light heavyweight 10-round at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena tonight. It will be telecast by ABC-TV.

Both were unbeaten in 1954. Young in two scraps and Johnson in six.

Lightweight champion Jimmy Carter, who regained his crown from Paddy De Marco Nov. 17, gets back to work Wednesday night in Spokane, Wash., when he faces tough Bobby Woods of Spokane in a non-title, non-TV, 10-round.

Joey Giardello, middleweight contender from Philadelphia, meets Al Andrews of Superior, Wis. at Norfolk, Va., Wednesday.

The 10-round will be telecast by CBS-TV at 10 p. m.

Nino Valdes, the No. 1 heavyweight contender, goes after his 11th straight victory Tuesday night against Jack Flood of Spokane in a 10-round at Huntington, W. Va.

Cincinnati Bearcat Cagers Set For Bid At Top Ranker

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati's Bearcats, bidding for a spot in the national rankings with a brilliant 13-3 record after topping tough Miami Saturday night, face two top foes this week in the headlines of a 30-game program for Ohio's collegiate basketball.

Dayton, defeated 85-78 by the Bearcats two weeks ago but ranked 18th nationally, is idle until next Sunday when the Flyers meet Xavier's Musketeers at Cincinnati.

Of the abbreviated 30-game slate this week, 18 are scheduled next Saturday as the boys go back into action after mid-year exams, and 17 are against out-of-state foes.

One of the week's big games sends Findlay's Oilers against Ohio Northern Saturday at Ada. The two teams are tied for the Mid-Ohio League lead with 6-0 records. Northern paces the state pack with a 9-1 mark, and Findlay is tied for third with 10-2.

Wooster and Marietta, deadlocked for the Ohio Conference top spot with 4-0 marks, also see action. Wooster entertains Heidelberg (3-4 in the 100) while Marietta is host to Ohio Wesleyan, which has a 4-3 league mark. The co-leaders meet Feb. 3 at Wooster in the game which might decide the title.

Tommy Bolt Cops San Diego Open

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The 1955 San Diego $15,000 open golf tournament will be officially registered as one captured by Tommy Bolt, with a 14-under-par 274.

In San Diego, however, it will be remembered as the one Gene Littler lost, beaten back to seventh with a score of 279.

Sandwiched between Bolt and Littler, in the official records, will be the names of Johnny Palmer, runnerup to Bolt; Ted Kroll; Freddie Haas Jr.; Bo Wininger and Jack Burke.

Bolt surged out in front with his first-round 64 and never let loose.

Top Runners See Indoor Mark Falling

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gunnar Nielsen and Wes Santee each predicts he'll break the world indoor mile record this winter. Each will have plenty of chances in a duel set up for the eastern boards.

With a victory apiece, they'll meet again in Boston Saturday.

Nielsen made Santee look bad in winning the Washington Evening Star Games mile Saturday. The Dane beat the Kansas star by 15 feet, pulling away on the last lap as if Santee were standing still. The night before, in the Inquirer Games at Philadelphia, Santee came home eight yards ahead.

Nielsen said he was sure he'd lower the record of 4:05.3 before the next six weeks are over. That record is held by Gil Dodds, who set it in New York in 1948.

Santee called his Washington defeat "just one of those breaks" and complained that the pace was so slow he had to take the lead far too early.

It was the same complaint registered by Nielsen after his Philadelphia loss.

Nielsen was clocked in the brilliant time of 4:09.5 over the slow flat track at the National Guard Armory here.

Victories Come After Many Tries

CHICAGO (AP)—It took a long time but it was worth waiting for the exclamation of Steve Nagy and Sylvia Wene today following their victories in the National All-Star bowling tournament.

Nagy, who came from second place to overtake Ed Lubanski of Detroit in the final round, came in third in 1948. Miss Wene, 26-year-old Saleslady from Philadelphia, finished second last year and in 1951.

Film Censoring Said Personal Responsibility

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The chairman of the Ohio Senate Education Committee calls movie censorship "a resignation of personal responsibility."

State Sen. Charles A. Mosher (R-Oberlin) debated state film reviewing with Clyde Hissong, former state education director, on a Columbus Town Meeting program over WBNS and WBNS-TV.

Mosher, an Oberlin newspaper publisher, said responsibility for good pictures should rest with the producer, exhibitor and "above all, with the parent and individual."

Film censorship in Ohio has been in question since the Ohio Supreme Court last Dec. 1 held that "any censoring order made by the Department of Education pursuant to the Censorship Act is unconstitutional and unlawful."

Hissong said the films coming into Ohio without the movie industry's own code seal—about 40 percent of the total—offered the greatest danger.

"We don't have to worry about 'code' pictures," he said. "Somebody should have pre-control on the non-code pictures, when the industry itself won't pass on them."

Sokolosky's

These Days

The point of the matter is that Chou leaves us three alternatives:

1. Let the prisoners stay in China and rot there;
2. Throw the bomb at Red China;
3. Recognize them on condition that they graciously permit all Americans now held in China to be returned to the United States, and we would have to take their word that they are sticking to their contract as we do not know many they hold.

Whether we are patient or impatient will affect the situation little unless we go to war, which we do not want to do. Therefore, we are stuck with a bad mess and we might as well face it.

I recently saw a screening of a motion picture, "Bamboo Prison," which was made by Bryan Foy with rare sensitivity. This picture gives a dramatic impression of what a Chinese prison is and how Americans are treated. It is all a story, but I could not help thinking of our boys who are still eating millet and having their brains washed and I realize that the real trouble is that nobody knows what to do about it.

Kyger Creek Ready To Open Power Service

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP)—Electric power from the huge new Kyger Creek power plant will begin supplying the vast needs of the Portsmouth Area atomic plant this week.

George C. Halfinger, plant general manager, said the first of the plant's 200,000 kilowatt units is ready to send power to the atomic plant, which will utilize the entire output.

The 145 million dollar steam-generating plant has a rated capacity of one million kilowatts. It originally was scheduled to start operations next April.

Located 15 miles north of here, the Kyger Creek plant is second in size only to one other steam-generating plant at Madison, Ind.

As the plant prepared to hum, dust collectors and automatic instruments were readied to check dust and gas discharge.

Halfinger said the instruments, known as Thomas autometers, will check air content in Gallipolis, Mid-depot and Point Pleasant.

He said the dust collectors will check on mechanical collectors, which are designed to remove 95 per cent of the dust from plant boilers.

Examiner Reports $7,307 Shortage

the examiner's report reveals how this was done.

The examiner said Amey disclosed that Police Chief Elmer Merriam was present when the loss was discovered, and that the mayor requested such officer to make no investigation of the apparent robbery and that no other law enforcement officers were informed of such matter.

"In questioning Mr. Merriam about this purported robbery, he informed us that in accordance with the request of Mr. Amey, no investigation was made, nor was such matter reported to other law enforcement officers, or to local city officials."

Thus no public record was made of the incident.

Near the end of the examination, members of the city police department discovered $1,025 in currency under a lower drawer of a desk in the mayor's quarters. Amey had used this desk in his office while mayor. The two offices adjoin in city hall.

Envelopes containing the current cash bonds posted by various persons for appearance in mayor's court. Since these persons had appeared in court and received refunds of their bonds from the mayor, the money was turned over to the former mayor and applied in payment of the findings returned against him.

THE EXAMINER'S report in another section said:

"In checking the register of arrests maintained by the police department, we found numerous instances where such record indicated that the arrested parties had been prosecuted and sentenced in the Circleville mayor's court, yet their cases were not recorded upon the criminal dockets.

"In such instances, neither the affidavits nor original arrest reports were found by your examiners. Since our investigation of certain of these cases indicated that they had been tried and sentenced by the mayor, there is no doubt that the papers incident to such cases were forwarded to the mayor.

"Thus same were either lost or were intentionally destroyed. We are unable to determine the exact cause for the loss of these records; therefore we will leave the determination of how such records disappeared to the discretion of the proper local authorities.

"Our examination also revealed that various court collections were made by members of the city police department, who were usually on desk duty at the time. The policy in this respect was to place the funds collected in an envelope and deposit same in counter drawer at police headquarters. These collections were later removed by the mayor, with no receipt being exchanged, substantiating the receipt of such funds into his custody.

"When Mr. Amey assumed the office of mayor, policy was followed whereby the mayor's official receipt book was used to receipt for funds collected in the police department, thus he would readily know what court collections were thus received in his name.

"THIS POLICY was changed by the mayor shortly after he assumed office, by issuing a separate receipt book to the police department for their use, yet no change was made in the policy of removing funds from the police department without receipting therefor.

"We wish to state at this time that all of the receipt books maintained by the police department under this newly established policy, disappeared prior to this examination. Here again we are unable to determine the reasons for such disappearance of public records.

"The numerous irregularities, as above stated, caused us to make additional work in making this examination, as it was necessary, in numerous instances, to contact the parties prosecuted in the mayor's court to ascertain a true picture of what transpired in their particular case.

"These contacts clearly revealed that the official mayor's court records were incorrect in numerous instances, also that a considerable amount of court collections were not accounted for upon such records, nor deposited with the proper treasuries."

At another place the report said: "All carbon copy duplicate receipts issued by the police department personnel covering collections of the above nature (bail bonds) were apparently destroyed prior to this audit; at least they were not presented to us for the purpose of examination."

The examination brought to light the case of a Columbus man who was fined $150 and $12.10 costs on a drunk driving charge and sentenced to 90 days in the county jail for driving after his license had been revoked. The second penalty was later changed to show a fine of $175 and $12.10 costs on the mayor's books.

ACCORDING TO a sworn affidavit made by this defendant, he was released from the county jail after he had served 10 days and brought by the mayor in the latter's car to the North American plant in Columbus to resign his job for the purpose of collecting the wages due him and apply this on his fine.

In his affidavit he says that he and his mother paid the mayor $389.20 and turned over his car for $25 in settlement of the cases. The mayor's records show that he turned in only $319.20. Examiners say that he had admitted selling the car for $35. There was nothing to show that the city got the $35.

In an affidavit made by another defendant, who was fined $100 and costs on a drunk driving charge, he said that he turned over three guns, valued at $90, as security until the fine was paid. He swore that he had never gotten the guns back and never paid his fine. The mayor told the examiner that he returned the guns but did not get a receipt for them.

This was the basis of a finding of $108.70 against Amey, the amount of the fine and costs.

In reference to the mayor's clerk, the report said: "We also wish to state that in our opinion the various discrepancies incident to this (mayor's) office were not the fault of the clerk, it being the established procedure for the mayor to record the disposition of the various cases upon the original affidavits, same being also numbered by such officer to correspond with the docket pages. "Also the clerk was instructed to post all collections to the cash book record from the carbon duplicate copies of receipts issued. Our examination revealed that all postings were made strictly in accordance with the affidavits and receipt submitted to the clerk, in this regard."

ON THE subject of jail releases, the report said:

"Our examination of the Pickaway County sheriff's jail register, relative to the prisoners who were released from the custody upon the payment of the balance due for fines and costs imposed in the Circleville mayor's court, disclosed that certain collections received in this respect were not accounted for upon the mayor's court records.

"In such instances, a procedure was followed whereby the sums due for the release of prisoners was a paid to the mayor, with an official release signed by the mayor being forwarded to the sheriff to order the prisoners' release. However, in some instances the mayor's name was signed to these releases by a member of the city police department, with the collection being made by such officer.

"As previously stated, the funds collected by the police department employees were placed in envelopes and deposited in a drawer at police headquarters, with such funds later being removed from the drawer by the mayor and with no receipts being issued by such officer to substantiate receipt thereof."

The examiner's report emphasized that the manner in which the records of the mayor's office were kept caused the audit to extend beyond the usual time required, with resulting added expense to the taxpayers.

The examination, in all, covered the period between Sept. 1, 1951, until June 19, 1954, thus covering a portion of the administration of former mayor Thurman I. Miller.

IN REFERENCE to this portion of the checkup, the report said: "The affairs of the mayor's office relative to the accounting of court revenues and license fees, etc., and the distribution of same, were accomplished in an efficient and satisfactory manner during the period covered by the activities of Mayor Thurman Miller."

Lima Mayor, 70, Dies Saturday

LIMA (AP)—Mayor W. L. Ferguson, 70, of Lima, died Saturday at Memorial Hospital. He suffered a heart attack last Tuesday.

Twice mayor of Lima, Ferguson was born in Auglaize County and was a resident of Lima since 1904. He was employed for 40 years by The Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton Corp. He will be succeeded by Clyde Welty, Lima's council president and acting mayor during Ferguson's brief illness.

Fish Chowder Gets New Definition

PARIS (AP)—It's still fish chowder, but the French Academy's revised dictionary is giving bouillabaisse a break. The 1931 edition calls bouillabaisse "provincial fish soup with slices of bread."

Academy members working on the revision have agreed to toss that out in favor of the definition: "Provincial dish prepared with saffron, oil and boiled rock fish." Add your own garlic.

Many Dimes Sought

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—The Junior Chamber of Commerce effort to collect a mile of dimes Saturday for the March of Dimes was short by 77,280 dimes. Chairman Charles R. Bashell said 12,480 dimes — $1.248 — were collected. At 17 dimes to a foot that's 734 feet or roughly one eighth of a mile.

Okinawa Guarded

OKINAWA (AP)—American Air Force Sabrejets are patrolling the skies in force over this strategic island base only 400 miles from the troubled Tachen Islands. The jets have been out in record strength daily since the Reds successfully attacked tiny Yikiangshan Island near the Tachens a week ago.

Bank Robbed

SANDUSKY, Mich. (AP)—Burglars entered the Exchange Bank of nearby Carsonville through a window yesterday, dug through a 19-inch brick vault wall and got away with $3,750—all in coins.

added to his studies. His mother, Queen Elizabeth II, speaks that language fluently.

Career Army Major Facing Court-Martial

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP)—Maj. Ambrose Nugent, a 44-year-old career artilleryman, goes before a general court-martial board today in what he calls the "most critical period of my life."

Nugent is charged with collaborating with the enemy while an Army prisoner of war in Korea. Ten colonels on the board will decide whether he is innocent or guilty.

Nugent, of Merrill, Wis., faces trial on 13 counts alleging violations of the Articles of War and the Uniform Code of Military Justice. The most serious charge accuses the World War II combat veteran of offering intelligence to his Communist captors. The Army says the offense is treasonable.

If 7 of the 10 colonels find him guilty, Nugent could be sentenced to life imprisonment. Maj. Gen. Edward T. Williams, commanding general of Ft. Sill, has ordered the death penalty not be considered.

Nugent is also accused of making radio broadcasts blaming the war on "capitalistic Wall Street warmongers," impeding the escape of fellow prisoners and permitting the use of his photograph and signature on surrender leaflets.

Nugent denies all charges. He says his sole aim was to protect the lives and general welfare of his men. Nugent served 33 months in Europe and was a member of the 24th Division at the outbreak of the Korean hostilities.

Cornerstone Laid

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State University President Howard L. Bevis and Methodist Bishop Hazen G. Werner yesterday helped lay the cornerstone for a new $300,000 Wesley Foundation building near OSU.

Dairymen Meet

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Ohio Dairy Products Assn. today opened its 38th annual convention in Cincinnati. Some 800 delegates and guests are expected to attend the three-day session.

Christmas Skates Lead To Death

DETROIT (AP)—Since Christmas, 15-year-old Carol Giacobazzi yearned to use her new ice skates, a present.

But she had been ill. So she spent her free time with her books and oil painting and poetry. In high school she was an all-A student.

Yesterday, the glimmering ice of Lake St. Clair was a lure.

Carol pleaded with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Giacobazzi for permission to go skating. They finally agreed.

The ice broke beneath Carol and her companion Sandy Shern, also 15, about 800 feet offshore.

Two small boys heard their cries and raced for help.

Another skater, Gerald Miller, 19, responded. He raced to the hole in the ice. Lying prone, he pulled Sandy to safety. But he couldn't save Carol.
